

Constitutional Question Scores Commanding Victory

By VINCENT P. CAROCCI
PHILADELPHIA (Wednesday) (AP)—Gov. Shafer's call for a limited convention to rewrite the Constitution of 1874 appeared headed for a commanding victory today.

The eight other constitutional questions on the ballot — seven structural amendments and a $500 million conservation and reclamation bond issue — also seemed on their way to overwhelming victory.

Shafer, withheld a total victory statement, but called himself "pleased" with the returns and said it appeared as if "the trend will continue."

The vote count in yesterday's primary was unusually slow, as many counties gave priority to local contests over the only statewide issues. The convention call and eight proposed amendments to the constitution.

On the municipal level, Mayor James H. J. Tate of Philadelphia easily smashed an attempt by the city Democratic leadership to dump him; The Democratic organization candidate in Chester — Stanley Branche, a Negro civil rights leader — was defeated, and Mayor George S. Smith of Easton, seeking a third term, lost the Democratic nomination — also with organization backing.

With 2,080 of the state's 9,437 precincts reported, the convention count was 219,136 for, 130,973 against.

Lackawanna (Scranton), in nearly complete unofficial counting, went for the convention by 36,093 to 8,514. Complete Lehigh County returns showed the convention question ahead 19,136 to 12,831. In suburban Montgomery County, the question led 28,000 to 12,116 with about 75 per cent of the vote in.

The convention also led in Philadelphia and Allegheny counties, but the Republican organization in Delaware County — the only major GOP troupe to oppose Shafer's convention call — delivered a negative vote: 41,175 for to 44,681 against.

Shafer, from his Meadville home, said he was "pleased with the returns" and was optimistic that the entire constitutional slate would pass.

"It looks as if the trend will continue," the governor commented, although he refrained from predicting a total victory. "Constitutional revision is vitally needed and the people at the polls have performed a singular act of faith in their future."

Branche, first Negro ever to run for mayor in Chester, polled 629 write-in votes to 811 for Adam Pollak, a ward leader.

REGISTER AND RECORDER

William E. Rice last night earned the right to seek a second term as Warren County register and recorder by easily defeating Jack E. McCool, current county treasurer who cannot by law succeed himself.

The Republican voters cast 5,114 votes for Rice against his opponent's 2,153 in a race second only in interest to that of commissioner. This is with two precincts unreported.

Of the total unofficial votes cast, Rice acquired 1,833 to McCool's 786 in Warren Borough, the residence of both candidates.

Prior to serving as register and recorder Rice held the office of treasurer. Prior to that time he served as burgess of Warren Borough.

FOR TREASURER

A veteran employee of the county treasurer's office, Florence Hoffman, last night won the Republican nomination to run for the office in the November election. She received the nod by easily defeating Fred Berry, a justice of the peace from Starbuck, by an unofficial vote of 5,033 to 2,197, with two precincts unreported. Her margin in her home town of Warren was 1,986 to 695.

On the Democratic side of the ballot John Fago was the winner over Don Armagost, 1,325 to 925. The Warren Borough vote favored Fago 427 to 170.

Mrs. Hoffman, if a victor in November, will fill the vacancy to be left by Jack E. McCool, who was unable to seek re-election as treasurer.

FOR AUDITOR

Republican incumbents Russell E. Dietsch and Ray A. Niver polled 4,770 and 3,486 unofficial votes respectively yesterday to earn the candidacy for the office of Warren County auditor. They were victors over a third opponent, Henry D. Preston, who received 3,132 votes.

Roy Summerton was the only Democrat seeking the nomination. He received 1,600 votes.

Figures listed here are with 45 of 47 precincts reported.

CONSTITUTIONAL QUESTIONS

The slogan prevalent in Warren County prior to yesterday's primary election and up until the polls closed at 8 p.m.—"Vote 'Yes' Nine Times," paid off.

With only 26 of the 46 precincts reporting on the constitutional questions, the electorate conclusively supported the amendments and a limited constitutional convention.

The unofficial vote was as follows:

Referendum—yes, 4,219; no, 1,615; No. 1-A—4,469, yes, 1,299; no, No. 2-A—4,465, yes, 1,267; no, No. 3-A—4,401, yes, 1,298; no, No. 4-A—4,393, yes, 1,329; no, No. 5-A—4,404, yes, 1,307; no, No. 6-A—4,377, yes, 1,308; no, No. 7-A—4,361, yes, 1,301; no, No. 8-A—4,122, yes, 1,547; no.

Those precincts reporting telephoned tallies on the questions along with other election results. There were 20 precincts left to bring in or call in the votes on the nine questions late last night.

Turnout 50 Per Cent; Hoffman, Fago Named

At least 50 per cent of the eligible voters in Warren County went to the polls yesterday despite predictions of a light turnout at the primary election.

With only three precincts left to report, Sheriff D. E. Allen Jr., (unopposed) was leading the Republican ticket with an unofficial total of 6,459 votes. Also unopposed in GOP ranks was prothonotary Warren Lowe with 6,271 votes.

The incumbent register and recorder William E. Rice was running third on the Republican list and in seeking re-election tallied 5,065 to his opponent's 2,090, the latter being county treasurer Jack E. McCool, who cannot succeed himself.

Although complete returns were not in as to the nine constitutional questions on the primary ballot, results were conclusive that Warren County stood behind Governor Raymond P. Shafer in making the move for reforms.

In the race for the county commissioner's posts, with 11 Republicans and four Democrats in the running, Dr. David Rice, also with three precincts missing, scored a victory while incumbent Blain Mead followed close behind. Both were nominated to carry the GOP banner in the fall general election. Democrat Lewis L. Crippen, seeking a fourth term was downed by Chester Walker and Thomas J. Donnelly.

Deputy county treasurer Florence Hoffman was successful in her bid for the Republican nomination to the office of county treasurer and was opposed by Frederick Berry, Conewango township peace justice. She faces John Fago in the fall.

There was opposition among the GOPsters for the county auditor job, but incumbent Ray Niver and Russell Dietsch won a close race against Henry Preston. R. N. Summerton, Democrat incumbent, was unopposed.

Nine borough councilmen are up for election in the fall, with only one contest looming.

Republicans Pick Rice and Mead; Crippen Defeated

Democrats Name Donnelly, Walker for General Ballot

With 50 per cent of the registered voters turning out yesterday, attention centered on the county commissioner's race. Dr. David K. Rice and Blain Mead topped the Republican balloting and Thomas Donnelly and Chester Walker scored Democratic victories.

Incumbents Deac Lay, Republican, and Lewis Crippen, Democrat, lost their seats on the board of commissioners.

Eleven Republicans were in the running for the post of Warren County Commissioners. Only two could be nominated. The same was true in the race between Democrat candidates of which there were four.

Dr. David K. Rice led the GOP field, with all but three precincts reporting, with an unofficial total of 2,642 votes. Incumbent Blain M. Mead, out for a fourth term, followed close behind with 2,550.

Lewis L. Crippen, Democrat incumbent, also running for his fourth term, lagged behind Thomas Donnelly, former Warren County representative to the General Assembly and Chester Walker, a newcomer to the political ranks.

Donnelly chalked up 1,806 votes; Walker, 1,101; Crippen 850 and Sidney Mason 752.

Incumbent D. H. Lay, asking a second GOP term, received 821 votes yesterday, as compared to his leading the ticket four years ago with 2,957. Crippen four years ago received 1,541 and Mead 2,862.

Other Republican candidates for nomination as county commissioners saw unofficial results as follows:

Anthony (Tony) Tomassoni, 1,045; Major Myron Kirberger, 501; James Marshall, 2,024; Robert Walsh, 1,841; Ellis Martin, 371; Ralph Brasington, 1,430; James Blomquist, 1,328; John Teconchuk, 236.

If the usual Warren County trend carries into the fall general election, the voters will probably seat two Republicans and one Democrat, but the fight will be between Rice and Mead vs. Donnelly and Walker.

In 1963 there were seven Republicans on the ballot and five Democrats.

Lewis L. Crippen said he appreciated the 12 years he has spent in the commissioner's office, adding it "had been a very enriching experience." Crippen noted "it was a time of major and important decisions in the county." I congratulate Dr. See COMMISSIONERS, Page 4-2

Viet Action May Bring Offensive

By PETER ARNETT
CON THIEN, Vietnam (AP) — Artillery duels now churning up the area of the demilitarized zone are regarded by U.S. Marine officers as a prelude to a long summer of bloody fighting.

North Vietnam's increasing use of heavy weapons buried in underground emplacements within the six-mile-wide demilitarized zone set up by the Geneva agreement of 1954 as a neutral belt, is reported accompanied by a rising infiltration of hand regulars.

Communist howitzers and mortars slam shells around the clock into Con Thien and Gio Linh, allied strongpoints two miles below the zone. Seven miles apart, they are the forward positions in a sector that U.S. Marines, who man it, call Leatherneck Square.

Counterbattery fire from dozens of U.S. Marine and Army guns crashes back at the enemy muzzle flashes from the zone mountainsides. U.S. Navy ships add to the firepower. Bombers are continually overhead.

Conventional warfare has come to Vietnam.

This takes some adjusting to by the Americans who man the forward positions and have to live with the shelling.

Few of them were in World War II or in Korea. But those who were nodded grimly and remember it was the way.

The one Marine battalion operating inside the square, the 1st of the 9th Regiment, had 29 men killed and 190 wounded in three days. Many of these casualties were inflicted by enemy mortar fire, which experienced Marines describe as the most accurate they have yet encountered.

Township Contests Conclusive

Contests in 19 of 20 townships were complete last night, with only Eldred Township yet to report. Only in Sheffield did a Democrat score a victory, the rest voted Republicans into office.

(In Eldred township, Robert E. Marshall (R) won with 48 votes. Other candidates in the contest received the following votes: Clyde Allen (R), 18 votes; Earl E. Roberts (R) 4 votes; and Dillion A. Vorman (R) 34 votes.)

In Columbus, Basil Pokosh (R) took the victory, over Warren D. Fargo (R) and Jordan Christensen (D). Pokosh had a total of 104 votes, with Christensen next with a total of 37 votes. Fargo received a total of 71 votes.

In Conewango Robert J. Kusse (R) won over Russell H. Jackson (R). Kusse received 281 votes from the 1st district and 108 votes in the 2nd district, making a total of 389 votes, compared to Jackson's 180 votes in the 1st district and 48 votes in the 2nd district. Jackson received a total of 228 votes.

In Farmington Arvid Gruber (R) got the supervisors job by a meager 15 votes. Weston W. Wilcox (D) had 51 votes, H. Ronald Stanton, received 34 votes, Emerson J. Spicer got 33 votes, and Walter E. Yeskey got 19 votes, with Marvin Bergstrom receiving a total of 17 votes.

In Glade, Clyde Miller swamped D. L. McGuire. Miller received a total of 251 votes, as compared to McGuire's 85 votes. Both candidates were running on the republican ticket.

In Sheffield Norman L. Spicer (D) took the victory with a total of 210 votes from two districts. Burdette C. Weiser (R) got a total of 179 votes from the two districts, with Joseph Stravena (R) receiving a total of 178 votes from the two districts.

In Sugar Grove, Carl Johnson was victorious. Johnson received 86 votes from two districts. The man he defeated was Floyd L. Tidrick. Tidrick received a total of 45 votes from the two districts. Both candidates were running on the Republican ticket.

Other districts not previously mentioned are districts in which there was no contest. The supervisors for the districts are as follows: Brokenstraw, Tracy Crocker; Cherry Grove, Lyle E. Marlin; Elk, Robert F. Christensen; Pine Grove, William E. Barrett; Spring Creek, Virgil Tubbs; Southwest, Herbert W. Butcher; Triumph, John E. Gustafson; Watson, Victor Kitzlinger; Deerfield, Daniel Sveta; and Freehold, George W. Martin.

Mead Township's Howard Flick also was unopposed.

Jamestown Man Is Sentenced

JAMESTOWN — William D. Crawford, 31, of 106 Charles st., Jamestown was sentenced to a one-year term in county jail yesterday afternoon by Judge Edwin G. O'Connor. He pleaded guilty to a charge of petty larceny reduced from second-degree forgery. The indictment stemmed from an incident on January 14 in the town of Poland, N.Y. Crawford was alleged to have obtained $42 worth of merchandise by forging another person's signature on a bank credit card.

LOTS OF ASSISTANCE

Throughout the election night large numbers of people jammed the corridor in Warren County Court House eagerly awaiting news from headquarters on the progress of the spirited primaries. One observer remarked that the crowd was nearly equal to that of the night of the Kennedy election. (Photo by Mahan)

Commissioners

Rice, Mr. Mead, Mr. Donnelly and Mr. Walker and wish them the very best success," he said. As for Tom Donnelly, he said "I am very gratified with the vote of confidence given me by the voters and feel it is in appreciation of what I did as an assemblyman. In taking the state office I said Warren County would always come first and saw that it did through appropriations, legislative hearings, highways and hospital investigations. You get what you fight for."

He continued by stating that if, in the fall, he is a winner with the majority or minority, he will still try to do as good a job as he did in Harrisburg. "I feel the county stands to benefit from my experience," Donnelly said.

Chester Walker said he accepted the outcome of the election with gratitude and "wish to thank my friends and members of the Democratic Party for their support. The Democrats settled for second place this time, but we will work hard for first place in November." Republican candidates were not available for comments last night.

In a statement following the election Blain Mead, Republican candidate for County Commissioner said:

"I wish to thank all the voters in the county who voted for me,

To my knowledge, this is the first time in the history of Warren County that a candidate has won four consecutive nominations. I think the next four years will be a real advantage to the tax payers, and I am sure that David Rice and I will work very well together."

Mead added that today is his 26th wedding anniversary. "This is quite an anniversary gift," he said.

"I can't express my appreciation for the response I have had in my campaign for nomination for the office of County Commissioner. I'll strive hard to make as successful a campaign next fall. I will do everything to justify the trust in me shown by the voters," Rice said.

is unopposed in the fall general election.

Not only was the voter interest at an all-time high in the county but the crowd at the court house jammed the main corridor until all essential returns were in.

The vote on the constitutional amendments, according to one observer, was due to the concentrated efforts of the Warren County League of Women Voters, the Times-Mirror and Observer and Radio Station WNAE.

NEAR DEMILITARIZED ZONE

Marines Battle North Regulars

By ROBERT D. OHMAN
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines battled through banana groves and underbrush yesterday in an effort to root out entrenched North Vietnamese regulars menacing Con Thien, a forward command post two miles south of the demilitarized zone.

Reinforcements aided a battalion of the 9th Marine Regiment that had borne the brunt of the fighting and lost 30 men killed and 173 wounded in the last three days.

Associated Press Correspondent George Esper reported from the scene that elements of the battalion were hit hard again by mortar and small arms fire, though no casualty figures were announced.

"Our platoon—about 40 men—almost got annihilated," a wounded Marine said. "There was one man left in my squad. The others were killed or wounded."

Con Thien and the artillery base at Gio Linh, seven miles to the east, are major targets of shelling around the clock by Communist guns and mortars firing from emplacements buried deep within the demilitarized zone.

American artillery and bombers reply with massive counter-fire, but need direct hits to score because of the way the enemy weapons are shielded by the earth.

In fighting just south of Con Thien Monday, Marines were stung by more than 60 mortar rounds. Six were killed and 60 wounded in that action. A spokesman said 10 North Vietnamese were found dead.

In another mortar assault, guerrillas sent 80 rounds into the U.S. Army compound in the heart of Hue, the old imperial capital 390 miles north of Saigon. Six Americans were wounded and a Vietnamese soldier dier was killed. Off the coast, the U.S. destroyers Joseph Strauss and Fechteler duelled with Communist shore batteries near the mouth of the Son Yen River, about 30 miles above the border. The Navy reported shrapnel raked decks of the Strauss, but caused no damage and no one was hit.

The Communists used their big 140mm Russian-made rockets again Monday, dropping 11 rounds on a Marine outpost eight miles west of Da Nang. One Marine was wounded.

Fourteen Marines were wounded when a truck in which they were riding on a mine-sweeping mission southwest of Hue detonated a mine estimated to have contained 40 pounds of explosives.

Marines and paratroopers of the 1st Brigade, 101st Airborne Division, counted 20 of the enemy killed in a fight that ended at midnight Monday in Quang Tin Province, 350 miles northeast of Saigon. In the same sweep, 10 Marines were wounded when explosives from a Marine jet plane fell short.

Enemy dead in the four-day operation, named Union, were 381, compared to Marine casualties of 41 killed and 150 wounded.

Paratroopers of the 101st Airborne battled guerrillas twice near the coast 315 miles northeast of Saigon with heavy support by helicopter gunships. Enemy ground fire hit 13 of the choppers, destroying one and disabling five others. The remaining seven flew out under their own power.

No casualties were reported in the helicopter downings, but totals for the ground fighting were listed as 33 enemy killed, 13 Americans killed and 36 wounded.

Units of the 1st Cavalry, Airborne Division, working south of the paratroopers, uncovered two caches of enemy armaments that included 10,500 rounds of small arms ammunition, 8 rifles, 10 Bangalore torpedoes, 105 cases of recoilless rifle shells, 1,000 pounds of TNT, 2 cases of electrical blasting caps and 15 rockets. In the Mekong River delta, units of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division reported 113 guerrillas were killed in two brisk fights. They operated with the 11th Regiment of the 7th Vietnamese Division in one of the actions, 25 miles southwest of Saigon.

Briefly Speaking

The emergency unit of Warren Fire Department assisted a woman on Pennsylvania av. W. at 12:23 p.m. yesterday. She had locked herself out of her home.

Glade Township firemen yesterday morning answered a call at the Holly Apts, where smoke was pouring from between kitchen walls. The call came shortly after 10 a.m. Damage was minor, occurring where plumbing was being installed.

State Sen. Richard Frame will be the Memorial Day speaker at Pine Grove Cemetery in Russell. His speech will be made at 2:30 p.m.

Dwain G. Stenstrom, forest fire warden and fire chief of Glade Township, has requested that all fires be reported to him for investigation. His home phone is 723-8034, his camp phone 757-8556.

Five-day forecast for Western Pennsylvania:

Temperatures will average below normal with only small changes occurring from day to day. Highs will be 60 to 70 and the lows mostly in the 40s. Scattered showers are likely near the end of next week and the first of next week. About one-half inch of rain is expected.

Openings still remain for a canoe trip in Algonquin Park in Ontario Province, Canada to begin Saturday, June 10 at 5 a.m. from Warren YMCA. The trip includes a six day trip through Canadian Wilderness and will be run by two qualified adult leaders. Boys between the ages of 13 and 18 that can pass a swimming test and physical examination are eligible. The fee is around $70. For further information call the local YMCA director.

Staisey Wins in Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — State Sen. Leonard C. Staisey, backed by the county Democratic organization, held a 2-1 advantage last night in his bid for nomination to the county commission.

Staisey's closest opponent was incumbent commission chairman William D. McClelland who headed a rebel slate in a hard-fought intra-party primary struggle.

With 318 of 1,287 precincts reported, Staisey led McClelland by 48,996 to 26,095 votes.

Staisey's running mate, State Rep. Thomas J. Foerster held a slimmer margin over McClelland with 39,275 votes. Trailing with 17,978 votes was McClelland's teammate, James F. Dillon, former Pittsburgh Public Safety director.

Most of the early returns were from the city of Pittsburgh where the organization is strongest. The insurgent McClelland forces were hopeful the vote in the suburbs would swing the election their way.

Democrats will nominate only two commissioner candidates.

Prothonotary David B. Roberts, cast off by the Democrats after 25 years and a member of the McClelland team, trailed organization — backed James F. Clarke 28,870 votes to 48,870 with 438 precincts reported.

In the Democratic nomination for district attorney, Public Defender George H. Ross led with 42,495 votes to Atty. Louis Glasco's 35,009 with 438 precincts in.

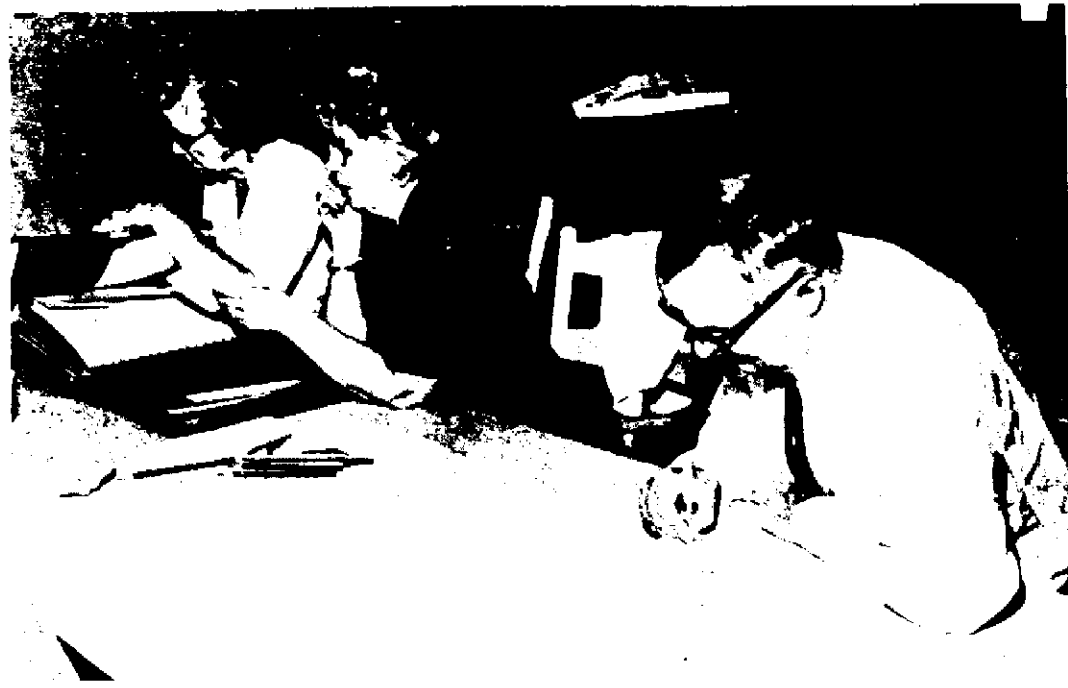

Republican Dist. Atty. Robert W. Duggan ran unopposed.

On the Republican side for county commissioner, organization candidates William R. Hunt and Robert F. Burkardt led their closest opponent by more than a 2-1 margin.

Route 17 Floods Continuing; Road Is Closed

The 15-mile stretch of Route 17 east of Randolph to Salamanca N. Y. remained closed yesterday due to rising water in Allegheny reservoir behind Kinzua Dam.

A Cattaraugus County highway spokesman said Tuesday morning the highway was covered with some 20 inches of water, and the level of the reservoir was continuing to rise.

Mayor Tate Defeats Machine In Philadelphia Demo Election

By LEE LINDER
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mayor James H.J. Tate, ripping off the "can't win" label pinned on him by the Democratic organization which refused him backing, easily won his party's nomination for a second four-year term in yesterday's primary.

Tate trounced former City Controller Alexander Hemphill, who had the Democratic endorsement. Ninety minutes after the polls closed Hemphill conceded Tate's overwhelming victory.

Dist. Atty. Arlen Specter, a former Democrat who quit the party in 1965 to make a successful fight for prosecutor as a Republican, was unopposed for the GOP nomination.

Tate leaped to the lead from the first returns. His margin grew as the vote count mounted. At the end he was ahead by 2 to 1, ahead of even his prediction of a 50,000-vote edge.

Tate told cheering supporters at his campaign headquarters that he was "very happy" over the win.

"This has been a long campaign, a difficult campaign," said Tate. "But I think it proves that eventually the people will prevail."

Hemphill, who had won three campaigns as controller, never got his mayoralty drive rolling despite organization support. In fact, Tate called Hemphill the "boss candidate" and based his successful bid on the slogan that he was independent who had given the city good government.

"It's performance that counts," said Tate in election talks in every section of the city, and the city's Democratic majority agreed.

There was a third candidate in the Democratic primary, Lenerte Roberts, a Negro real estate broker. Whatever votes he got were so few they weren't counted in the early unofficial returns.

Tate ran on his record — a record which Democratic Chairman Francis R. Smith, once the mayor's closest ally, said would make Tate a sure

Eight-Year-Old Girl Struck By Car; Unhurt

Eight-year-old Dina Greenawalt of 14 S. Marion st. escaped injury yesterday evening when a pick-up truck collided with her bicycle at the intersection of Marion st. and Pennsylvania ave. E.

The operator of the vehicle, Leland McChesney of RD 1, Pittsfield, said he did not see the little girl who was running with her bike from behind a stopped car into the intersection.

The truck that was traveling west on the avenue then hit the child's bike and knocking it into the girl who fell to the pavement.

She was taken to the emergency room of Warren General Hospital where she was x-rayed and later released with only bruises.

Suburb Misses Vote That Isn't Needed

HARRISBURG (AP) — Who says primary elections have to be dull?

As the early-bird voters in suburban Lower Paxton Twp. lined up at the township's nine polling places yesterday it was suddenly discovered that somebody goofed.

A referendum on a proposed $200,000 expansion to the township's municipal building was missing from the machines!

A hurried phone call to the Dauphin County Court House paved the way for restoration of the question to the machines — but too late for anyone who voted before 10 a.m.

Turns out the votes aren't necessary anyhow, according to a township official.

Richard Kohl, township secretary-treasurer, said the question was to be put on the ballot merely to discover voter reaction to the expansion.

Kohl explained that voter approval is not necessary for construction of the facility.

'Clean Government' Wins in Reading

READING, Pa. (AP) — Victor Yarnell, a former state representative running independently on a "clean government" ticket, upset organization-backed Harold E. Guldin for mayor in yesterday's primary election.

Yarnell led Guldin 6,612 to 6,387 with 75 of 79 precincts counted. A third candidate, James S. Maurer, a theater operator, got 1,266 votes, enough to end Guldin's hopes for a second try at the mayoralty. Guldin is a former city councilman.

Mayor Eugene L. Shirk, who defeated Guldin in 1963 in a Berks County Republican landslide, had no opposition for the Republican nomination.

In this city of nearly 100,000, the Democrats hold a 3-1 registration majority over the Republicans. The GOP controls City Council, 3-2, but all Republican seats are up in November.

Yarnell was slated by the Berks Independent Democrats, a group which grew out of dissatisfaction with the pre-1963 Democratic administration.

Maurer had promised to abolish parking meters if elected.

Arabs, Israelis Near Showdown

(C) N.Y. Times News Service
BEIRUT — The United Arab Republic and Syria appear to be preparing for a possible showdown with Israel.

The government of President Gamal Abdel Nasser has declared a state of emergency in Egypt and troop carriers moved through Cairo Monday, according to agency reports, presumably headed for Sinai Peninsula which borders on Israel.

Lt. Gen. Mohammed Fawzi, UAR Chief of Staff, went to Damascus to confer with the Syrian Minister of Defense, Maj. Gen. Hafez Assad, and the Chief of Staff, Maj. Gen. Ahmed Sweidani.

A Syrian military spokesman said the discussions dealt with mutual defense against Israel. Fawzi came from military planning sessions in Cairo with

U.S. Concern Expressed on Mideast Crisis

(C) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — The United States yesterday underlined its misgivings about the latest flare-up in the war of nerves between Egypt and Saudi Arabia by deploring Egyptian air raids last weekend against Saudi towns near the border of Yemen.

"There have reportedly been civilian casualties and, to say the obvious, we are deeply concerned about this escalation of tension between Arab states," said Robert J. McCloskey, the state department spokesman.

The United Arab Republic and Saudi Arabia, engaged for more than four years in a war-by-proxy in Yemen are now apparently gearing up for a potential conflict in South Arabia once British forces withdraw from that territory.

Saudi officials, building up their air defenses along their southern border with Yemen with British and American help, have warned repeatedly that they will encourage Yemeni Royalists this summer to resume their civil war against the Yemeni Republican regime controlled by Egypt. Saudi officials argue this would embroil Cairo in two fronts — in Yemen and South Arabia.

Officials here have interpreted the Egyptian air raids against the Saudi towns of Najran and Jizan last weekend, as a response to the Saudi threats and an attempt by Cairo to prevent a resumption of the war in Yemen.

Marshal Abdel Hakim Amer, first vice president and deputy commander-in-chief the UAR armed forces, concerning the mutual defense pact with Syria. The Syrian statement said: "The UAR and the Syrian Arab Republic face with firmness their historic national duty on Palestine in particular and toward Arab the people in general."

A Radio Bagdad broadcast statement by the Iraqi foreign minister, Dr. Adnan Pachachi, said Iraq would "rush to Syria's aid if Israel attacked."

Radio Damascus charged earlier that warnings by Israeli Premier Levi Eshkol of massive retaliation for Arab terrorist attacks coming from Syria were "American threats in Hebrew language." The U.S. Sixth Fleet, stationed in the Mediterranean, is regarded by Arabs as "part of Israel's defense."

Rebate Candidate Wins in Poconos

STROUDSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Carl A. Yost, who promised to return to Monroe County the bulk of fees and commissions he would earn if elected recorder of deeds and register of wills, won the Republican nomination in yesterday's primary.

With 25 of 35 precincts reporting, Yost, a 23-year-old school teacher, led John R. Wellington 2,106 to 1,457.

In the Democratic contest Katherine Bush won the nomination over Joseph Vogt. With 30 of 35 precincts reporting, she led by 2,538 to 1,627.

Yost, a Republican, was one of four candidates.

Yost said that if elected he would keep only $8,500 a year, returning everything above that to the county general fund after income taxes are paid. The office now pays about $25,000 believed to be more money than is paid to any other elected county official in the state.

Yost also said he would recommend the abolishment of the fee system for elected county officials.

Monroe County, in the heart of the Poconos, has had a fantastic land boom for several years. The county is the center of the federal government's $200 million Tocks Island project, and in 1965 alone more than 200,000 new lots were included in subdivisions planned by more than 100 private developers operating in the county, which has a population of less than 50,000.

All these transactions eventually pass through the recorder's office, and various filing fees are charged. The recorder of deeds and register of wills in counties the size of Monroe are paid by fees and commissions, rather than salary, under state law. An attempt was made in the last legislature to change the law.

Yost campaigned as a man of simple means, saying the $8,500 represented $2,500 more than what he earns now as a teacher in the Pleasant Valley School District.

Looking Ahead Fifteen Years

Do the experts know what they are talking about?

That is, are the findings and conclusions of an accredited firm of planning consultants to be accepted as we look ahead to 1980 and try to determine what Warren County will be like 15 years from now?

If the answer to these questions is "yes," then it is interesting to consider the remarks of a speaker at a recent timber symposium at Bradford when he set forth the conclusions of Clifton E. Rodgers and Associates, planning consultants, based on facts established by their researchers.

A six-county area was under consideration by the symposium. These counties were Cameron, Elk, Forest, McKean, Potter and Warren.

In discussing the future population of the area, the speaker said, "Do we envision a metropolis? No, and let those who disagree take another real look at the natural resources. Why close our eyes to this? Why try to create a foreign economy? It could only develop through great hardship and totally unrealistic monetary investment. Furthermore, without a continued struggle and against overwhelming odds, it would only fade and die.

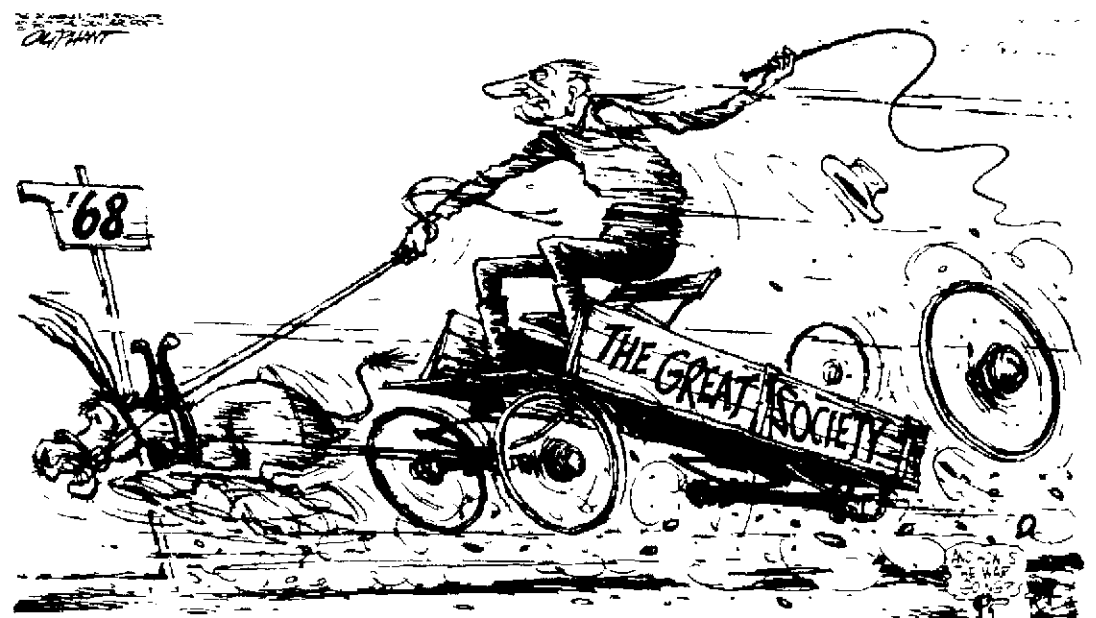

"A basic change in our culture has taken liabilities of the past and turned them into priceless assets for the future. We refer to our wasteland category, unbuildable if you prefer, including, hillsides, stream channels, forest areas, game preserves, inaccessible areas and the like. Supplement these areas with water, dams, lakes, ponds, etc., and our six-county area could achieve an even better position tomorrow in the national economy, then it ever held in the late 1800's when coal, clay, oil, and timber were king.

"Today the national economy needs open space and recreation facilities. Here in our area is over two million acres of wooded open space with a potential for the entire scope of recreational activity. But the mere existence of open space does not make a recreational facility; it requires the water area and the service area, with its concomitant development to bring people in and cause them to stay long enough to have a positive impact on the economy. Would you believe 30 million people will visit our six-county area for recreation purposes in 1980? It could happen if you want it to!"

Further along in his talk, the speaker closed with: "Let the majority of the people live in the metropolitan areas but get them here for their summer vacations, a mountain retreat, boating, swimming, skiing, sledding, golfing, hunting, fishing, nature study, bird watching, butterfly and moth collecting; and most important of all, a basic religious meditation and closer communication with God.

"What will be the economic, cultural and social nature of the region in 15 years? Ladies and gentlemen and citizens of the region, THE ANSWER IS IN YOUR HANDS!"

Only the Baby Felt Self-Pity

A warm haze of smoke hung over the East Side like a black canopy on a stone bed. The morning sun put up no fight. The tenements, an orderly array of brown teeth, had a mirthless smile for the world. A skinny man in a trench coat walked up Eighth Street and bounded up the steps. A woman was two blocks behind him.

The hall was cool and dark. It had an old odor of cooked varnish and cabbage. Johnny took the steps two at a time and opened the kitchen door in the back. The linoleum was broken and curled. A spoon with hard egg was on the floor. Near the back window, an infant sobbed in a crib. There was a view of clotheslines and red bricks. With the window open from the top, there was a sound of river whistles and the vague roar of a big city.

He hurried through the windowless bedroom to the front. From behind the drawn shade, he watched Maria, 21, and as old as death, follow him up the sidewalk and into the house. There was no one behind her. Johnny hurried back into the kitchen, took the watches from the trench coat, and put them on the dirty table. They gleamed.

A spasmodic shiver shuddered his body and he tried to lift the baby. She felt his warm hands and stopped crying, but lifting was beyond him. He took the hands away as Maria came in. She locked the door behind her and leaned against it. They stared at each other beyond tears. Only the baby felt self-pity.

"It worked okay," he said apologetically. He looked like an aging jockey in a white sweat shirt, a pair of army slacks, and sandals. Maria nodded with fatigue and ran a hand through the straight black hair. In a cheap housecoat, she looked like a dirty mop upside down. "It worked all right," she whispered. "We're just dead and don't know it."

"Aw, please," Johnny said. She glanced at the watches and went to the window and picked up the baby. The diaper was wet. She felt sweat behind the little head and the neck. The baby convulsed in her arms. "Better hurry," she said. "You have to see Mickey first."

"Promise me," he said, pleading. She nodded. "Promise," she said. Maria had threatened to turn the kitchen gas on many times. It was a gentle exit for her and the baby, but she never had the nerve. He knew they could not afford to live. The price was too high. It was getting higher.

No matter what they stole, the fence paid only 10 percent. Mickey said he too had to live. This morning, Maria had gone into Gutman's Jewelry Store on Second for a two dollar pin. Johnny had walked in while she was asking the man to bend the flowered ends of the pin back so that they would be flat. He had gone to the rear of the store and Johnny had scooped up watches out of the window and walked out quietly.

The clerk had returned and said: "Wasn't there a man waiting?" Maria had shrugged. She bought the pin and had it put in a small white box. They had done this often, but Johnny had to steal $200 worth every day to get $20 for four decks of heroin. Mickey was getting tired of watches — even good ones. He said he was lousy with them.

Two years ago, Johnny had pushed a cart in the garment center. It wasn't much, but it was steady. Then he had met Maria. She told him to keep away, that she was hooked. But he was in love. It was impossible to live with her without trying. He and soon they were descending the staircase of sanity hand in hand.

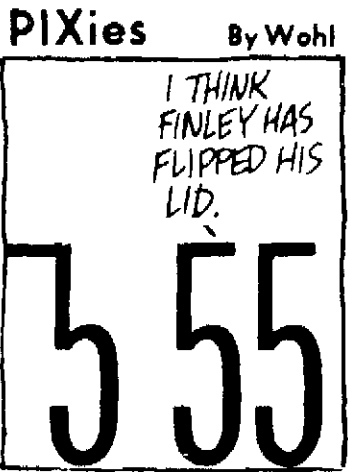

The baby had been a nightmare. Maria could not go to a hospital, or even summon a doctor. She had it in the windowless bedroom, under the pale saffron of a 40-watt bulb. The little girl had been born addicted. Now they shared a little of their fix with Tessie. It kept her quiet, and sometimes she didn't even awaken at feeding time.

"How long will you be?" He put the trench coat on and scooped up the watches. She always asked the same question. "It'll go out the cellar and over the fence," he said. "Then I have to fight Mickey for a couple of bucks. I wish my nerves would hold together so I could work, kid. I'll find Gimpy and get the decks and come right back. You could be boiling the needle."

She placed the baby back in the crib and clenched her hands and knees together as the tremor of an icy wind wracked her frail body. "Johnny," she said, starting to cry. "We have to get caught. I pray to God we get caught."

He swallowed slowly. "That's no way out," he said. "We both know there ain't no way out. How many people we know tried it? You know anybody ever kicked it?" She said maybe the baby could.

Johnny didn't kiss her goodbye. It would have prolonged the job by three or four eternal seconds. He hurried out the kitchen door. In the vestibule were gun wrappers and busted tile and a man. Without a word, Johnny knew that he wouldn't be seeing Mickey for a long time...

I THINK FINLEY HAS FLIPPED HIS LID.

RUSSELL BAKER

The Unskilled Consumer

(c) N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — Charles G. Mortimer, chairman of the executive committee of General Foods, urged a gathering of capitalists the other day to get in there and save the American consumer from the government.

Specifically, he wants business to unite against the so-called "truth-in-packaging" and "truth-in-lending" bills. Such measures he said, erode the national economy. And for what? To give the consumer protection he doesn't need.

It is painful to have to disagree here with Mortimer. It is much more comforting to feel wholly in harmony with big capitalists. But he has so obviously oversimplified the case that one feels obliged to set it straight.

His trouble, when he says that the consumer does not need protection, is that he doesn't tell us which consumer he is talking about. Actually, he is speaking of the master consumer, and so long as his remarks are read with the master consumer in mind, he is on sound ground.

As his title suggests, the master consumer is a nonpareil in his field, as for example Mrs. Clyde Springs, 1965 winner of the Nobel Consumption Prize. Mrs. Springs, after 18 years of research, solved the "2 cents off" problem in retail buying, a mystery which had baffled some of the United States' most resourceful spenders for a generation.

Now, as a result of her work, when a man pauses before the toothpaste counter, sees an unfamiliar toothpaste marked "2 cents off," and asks "2 cents off what?" Mrs. Springs can tell him. Unfortunately, the explanation is so abstruse that only a handful of the country's master consumers can understand it.

Nevertheless, when it comes to consuming products marked "2 cents off" Mrs. Springs needs no protection from the government or anybody else, and Mortimer is perfectly justified in urging that the feds not be allowed to harass her.

Mastering one field of consumption, however, leaves little time for acquiring even minimal competence in the hundreds of others. Thus Mrs. Springs, for all her skill at weighing the costs of "2-cents-off" merchandise, would not be the person to buy your breakfast cereals. "To this day," she recently told David Susskind, "I cannot tell whether the giant economy size is bigger than the family size."

At the breakfast-cereal shelf, this giant among master consumers becomes a midget, or as it is called in the field of consumption, "an unskilled consumer."

This comes from Herschel Tuesday, winner of the "Mister Unskilled Consumer" title for 1966. Between garrulous hearings, Tuesday boasts of the contributions he has made to the national economy. "I never buy a gallon of gasoline when for just a few cents more I can buy a 'big gallon,'" he says. "At the supermarket I always look for the giant quart-sized jar. When I need a quick loan to stop them from attaching the furniture, I borrow at the cheap 5.5 per cent rate, and as long as I don't have some government agency reminding me that it's 5.5 per cent a week, I don't feel too bad about it."

At one time in his life, Tuesday realized that he needed protection of some kind—whether from the government, he did not particularly care—if he were to escape a pauper's grave. "At that point," he said, "I suddenly realized that I was playing with dynamite."

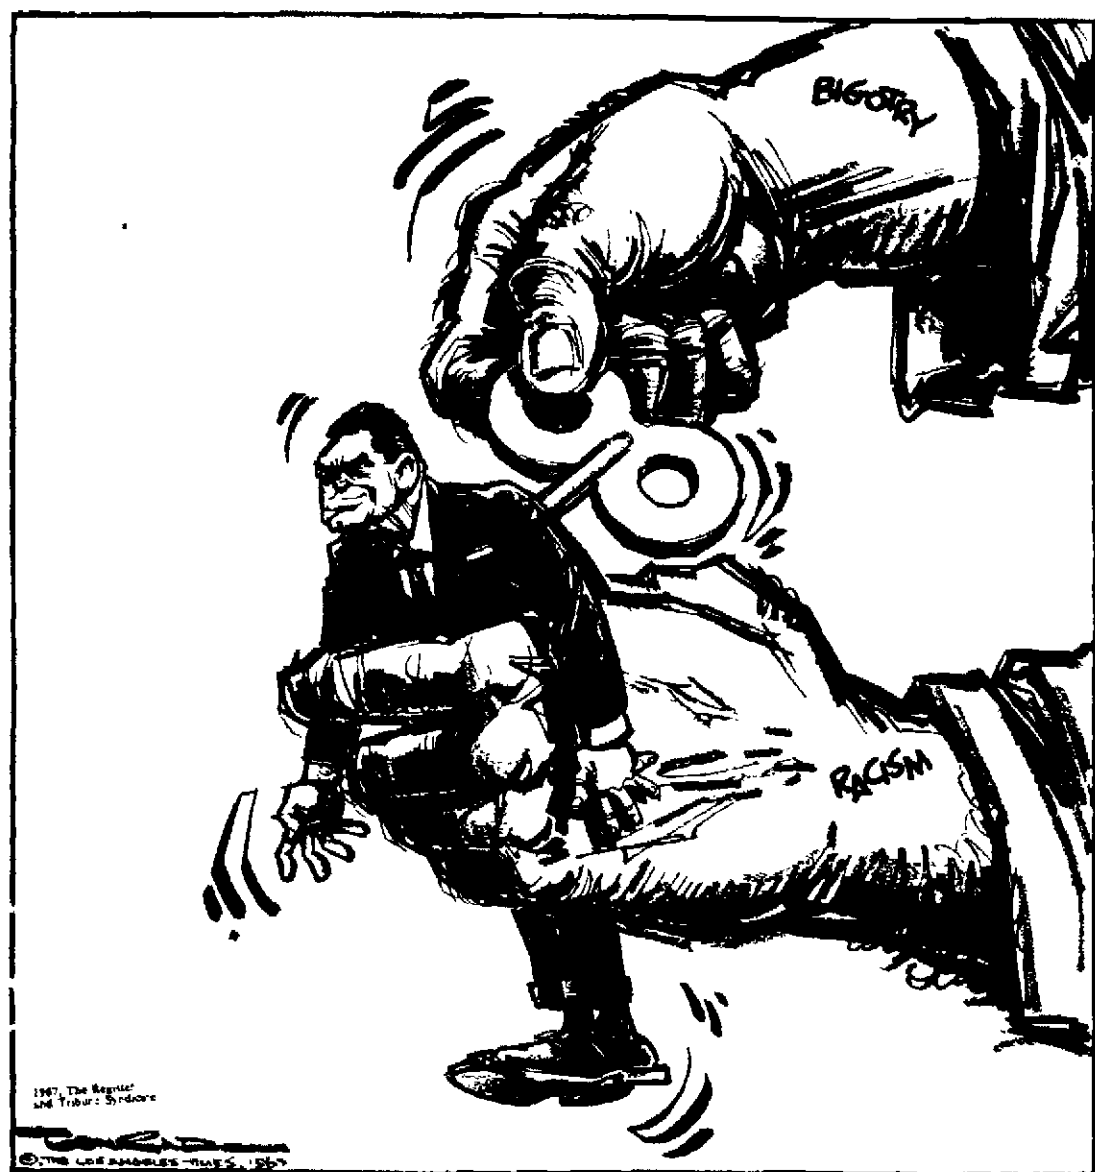

Like Mortimer, he perceived that protection for the unskilled consumers of America would erode the economy. "Prices might drop, profits might shrink," he said, "and then American business would lose the incentive to turn out more products I don't need so that I would have an abundance of opportunity to remain poor, and thereby keep the economy booming."

There have been a few ugly suggestions that Tuesday, by stating that he doesn't want protection, has been bought out by "the interests," that in return the big capitalists will eventually permit him an occasional exercise of the rich man's prerogative—to buy something at its wholesale price.

Most unskilled consumers would sell out more cheaply than that. Nine out of ten of us, at a guess, would think it a good bargain if the automobile-tire capitalists would just tell us, in plain English, what we are really getting for our money when we buy a four-ply, rayon-cord, rhinoceros-grip, first-line, dual-shield, extra-duty, anti-proliferating auto tire.

What Makes George Wallace Run?

DREW PEARSON

Victory Was No Accident

WASHINGTON—The victory of moderate Republican Gladys O'Donnell over right-wing GOPer Phyllis Schlafly for the presidency of the National Federation of Republican Women was more significant than appears on the surface.

The moderates won chiefly because they did what right-wingers have done in the past—organized carefully. At the San Francisco 1964 convention which nominated Barry Goldwater, liberal Republicans, headed by Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, failed to do their advance groundwork. Goldwaterites didn't leave a thing to chance, not even the checking of Goldwater's telephone to see whether it was tapped. Gen. Curtis LeMay sent one of his colonels, Eugene McElroy, out to San Francisco to check Goldwater's phone for hostile listening devices.

In the recent battle of the ladies, Mrs. O'Donnell did her groundwork carefully. She even remembered aspirin for political headaches. She may not want her secret campaign strategy published, but we think it's an interesting blueprint for winning. Here are some of the private instructions she gave her cohorts: "Swarm through lobby—We must have MANY in lobby. Circulate—wear buttons and badges. Strategy (theirs)—badger, obstruct, harass. Psychology—Preponderance of numbers. Please have your members wear badges, circulate through halls and lobby. Pass out brochures.

"Talk with everyone. Get everyone to reception. Wear flowers. Have large numbers around our desk-lobby. Invite everyone to hospitality suite."

More important was Mrs. O'Donnell's earlier secret strategy when last March she began mobilizing her political strength. She listed the Phoenix telephone number of Barry Goldwater—area code 602 948-1111—to have a picture taken with him and a letter of congratulations from him.

She also listed Jacqueline Cochran, the cosmetics mogul and former head of the Air Force WARS—Indio, California, DI 7-3555—and Herb Kline, editor of the San Diego Union, as people who could help her. As early as March 3 she contacted United Airlines, Mr. Lockareff, to charter a special plane to carry 90 Californians to Washington for the convention. The air travel was $170 per person, with $100 payable in advance.

As early as March 9 Mrs. O'Donnell tabulated a private list of different states, and calculated that New York would have 400 delegates in her corner, New Jersey 249, Pennsylvania 391, and Iowa 138.

Looking ahead to the convention, she outlined the following secret strategy for the Sheraton Park Hotel:

"Organization for convention floor—Noisemakers, blue and gold pompoms, very large; convention badges; loudspeakers.

"Endorsements and congratulations (using Reagan letter, with excerpts of letters from Sen. Thurston Morton, Ky., Sen. John Tower, Tex., Sen. Hugh Scott, Pa., and Sen. Thomas Kuchel, Calif.).

She listed requests she had made for other letters from Dwight Eisenhower, Sen. Howard Baker, Tenn., Sen. Peter Dominick, Colo., and Sen. Mark Hatfield, Ore.

At one point she made a notation to call Ruth Bassett, wife of one of the top editors of the Los Angeles Times, to ask her to save Bill Henry's columns in the Times.

She also made a survey of the political views of various delegates and noted that one delegate from New Orleans had written across a press release: "The liberal rats are doing this to us. Vote for P.S. (Phyllis Schlafly)."

Another delegate, Evelyn Gardner, was quoted as saying, regarding Mrs. O'Donnell: "Never elected to any post—a Long Beach grandmother."

Another delegate, Esther Dunlap, was quoted: "O'D must not be permitted to head up our NFRW on May 6."

Mrs. O'Donnell pushed harder than ever. She sent out instructions to her staff: "Convention rules: Seat our girls next to mikes; prof. control man at switch (Jim Baker handling). Orchestra only at meals.

"Floor managers—to answer questions; no campaigning on floor where voting takes place. "Pages should be O'Donnell people.

"Get key people in control in Washington early Monday to brief on how to use voting machines; second, how to caucus."

Before the convention opened, Mrs. O'Donnell worked up a hospitality program calling for "three boxes of oranges, 2,000 boxes of raisins, 15 pounds of walnuts." The oranges came from Mrs. Ed McCombre of Palm Springs. Dates came from Jacqueline Cochran in Indio. Nothing was omitted. Hilly Terrell was made responsible for "Band-aids, headache aspirin and rain bonnet."

Mrs. O'Donnell apparently expected politics to give her quite a headache, because she also instructed Bill Abrams to come up with "Band-aids, Emprin compound, and animal vitamins."

Apparently it was worth the headache. Mrs. O'Donnell won. The right-wing Republicans were defeated.

Soaring Costs of Crime

Q. How much does crime in our country today cost you, the average law-abiding family?

A. This year alone, an estimated $400—and the total cost to the nation as a whole, will run to a staggering $21 billion.

The social, political and human aspects of crime, USA 1967 are daily front page headlines. But the economic aspects which directly affect our own homes and our own pockets are almost completely ignored. Yet here are facts recently gathered by the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice:

Crimes against people (including homicide, assault) will reduce the lifetime earnings of the victims by $815 million.

Crimes against property (including robbery, burglary, auto thefts, embezzlement, fraud, vandalism, forgery, pilferage) will amount to losses and "transfers" of $3.9 billion.

Other crimes (such as drunk driving and tax fraud) will drain another $2 billion from constructive and legitimate economic channels. Sales of illegal goods and services (including narcotics, loan-sharking, prostitution, bootlegging, illegal gambling) will amount to a whopping $8.1 billion.

Add to this the $4.2 billion for our law enforcement and criminal justice systems; then add the $1.9 billion we, as private individuals and businesses, pay for such goods and services as burglary alarms, theft insurance, night watchmen, private detectives, bail and legal fees.

The total is $21 billion, a burden which falls on all of us, and even this is almost surely far short of the actual cost of crime in our country now.

The President's Commission does not even attempt to count the full cost of such illegal activities as price-rigging by corporations, undetected tax evasion, bribery and graft. While the Commission notes that the yearly intake by organized crime has been estimated from $7 to $50 billion, it admits that the precise sum is unknown.

There are no accurate figures on the cost of consumer fraud, since only 10 per cent of consumer fraud is even reported to police. Nor do we know the full extent of "white collar" crime, including everything from casual pilferage by employees of office supplies to outright stealing of corporate funds, because here too, only a fraction of this type of crime is ever reported to authorities.

An even more dramatic picture of the multi-billion dollar cost of crime emerges from the costs of individual crimes and individual criminal careers. For instance, the cost of a single arrest for willful homicide today is $5,100 and the cost to the public of a career in this crime is $12,600. In the case of a burglar, an arrest costs an average $3,100 and a single career burglar costs $14,000.

Horrible as this crime burden on the public is, it is slated to become worse as our population grows younger, as we become increasingly urbanized and as our ever more affluent society provides more opportunities for many types of criminals. Fundamental crime-breeding forces are our city slums, racial prejudice, our failure to upgrade education for the underprivileged.

The blunt economic fact is that we will not be able to cut the costs of crime until we raise the costs of fighting it. This means enormous new outlays of money, particularly by state and cities, it also calls for more modern crime-detection equipment, vastly better training of and more adequate salaries for law enforcement and correctional institution officials, broader and better vocational training for prisoners, probationers and parolees.

Yet even this won't mean much unless we also invest in Research on Crime.

MASON DENISON

Irvis Is His Own Man

HARRISBURG — Rep. K. LeRoy Irvis is a man who believes you can be damned by not only faint praise, but fulsome praise as well—even from a governor; even when he is from the opposite political party.

Mr. Irvis is the Democratic Whip in the State House of Representatives and the first Negro ever to attain such a high legislative post in Pennsylvania. Other Negroes have been appointed to cabinet posts and have been elected to state judicial posts as "balancers" on party tickets.

But it is fair to say that he has gone further politically—on his own—than any member of his race in Pennsylvania history.

He has been called "Pennsylvania's Ed Brooks," but that does justice to neither Mr. Irvis nor the United States senator from Massachusetts. Mr. Irvis is his own man, an eloquent orator who has gained the respect of both political parties.

In fact, he received so much respectful attention from (Republican) Governor Scranton during the past legislative session that it almost put him on the spot! Democrats were attempting to amend a package of Civil Rights bills presented by the former governor during that session. Over and over, the governor pointed out that Mr. Irvis had helped work out his package. Over and over he lauded him for his efforts.

"If he praises me once more," said the Pittsburgh lawmaker laughingly, "then I'll be in real trouble with my own party."

But he's used to such praise. In 1966, Saturday Evening Post ran a 13-page expose of state legislatures, entitled "Octopus in the State House." Mr. Irvis was virtually the only legislator praised. He was quoted extensively in the article and a compilation of the quotes would more or less sum up his philosophy about state government.

On the state government's tendency to let the federal government take over problems: "We can be talking about a problem like water pollution and someone will get up and say, 'Let's not do anything on the state level until we find out what the federal government's going to do.' So we do nothing."

On state finances: "We're right on the edge of disaster. This could be the final precipice."

On legislative duties: "If a man wants to do a good job for his constituents, he must deny his family. I think that is unfair."

And finally, at the climax of the article, Mr. Irvis was quoted once again summing up the entire dilemma of state government: "The states today are under the same sort of evolutionary pressures that animals are under. If they don't shape up, they'll get eaten up."

The latter statement has become a classic and is quoted over and over again.

Thus far, the 1967 legislature has been a quiet one for the Representative from the western territory, except for a speech on the conditions in mental hospitals and a blast at the Milk Control Commission for its practices.

But he'll be hitting the headlines shortly with a package of Civil Rights bills. A realist and a man likely to laugh at his own problems, he knows the turmoil caused by the introduction of Civil Rights legislation.

"When they see me coming with a pack of bills in my hands, they say, 'Oh, no, here comes trouble again.' But at least they say it with a smile," he remarked.

But he's not just a Civil Rights leader alone. He was one of the leaders in the fight for increased school subsidies, introduced a bill to make compulsory tests to determine if babies had PKU, and organized the bi-partisan committee to investigate the mental health program.

The PKU bill was a particularly important one. The disease can leave babies as living plants, but can be detected by a simple test and cured. As a result of the Irvis bill all Pennsylvania babies now must be tested for the disease. But Civil Rights is his "baby."

GOVERNOR SHAFER GIVES APPROVAL

Education Plan Gains Endorsement

COMPLETES 30 YEARS

Thousands Said Security Risks

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 10,000 servicemen and civilians have been classed unreliable and removed from positions involving nuclear weapons in the past four years, it was learned yesterday.

Most of them were merely reassigned to nonnuclear related jobs. The shifts were made under a human reliability program instituted in 1962 when the United States was approaching a peak in atomic strength.

Far from sabotage — the Pentagon won't say there has been any — the main reasons given for the shifts have been poor attitude, lack of motivation, reprimands, overindulgence in alcohol, negligence or delinquency in performance of duty, serious involvement with the law, financial or family irresponsibility, and cheating on tests.

The human reliability program generally is a series of employment or placement screening tests and continuing job evaluation reports of individuals having access to atomic and hydrogen bombs and missiles.

The Pentagon defines access as "physical access which would allow the opportunity to cause a launch or air drop of the weapon or nuclear detonation."

The purpose is to keep psychotics or other unstable persons out of hypersensitive atomic jobs.

To the extent that there has never been an unauthorized firing or launching of a thermonuclear device, the human reliability program has been 100 per cent effective.

By WILLIAM E. DEIBLER
HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer, in his special message on education to the legislature, has endorsed most of the key provisions in the state's proposed Master Plan for Higher Education.

Shafer's endorsement will not assure passage of the legislation needed to implement the plan, but it puts the weight of his administration behind the proposal. And that can't hurt it.

"I do not agree with everything in the plan," Shafer told the legislature, "but that doesn't mean I want to destroy it. I want to improve it, and I recommend that is the healthy attitude to take for Pennsylvania's future." This is the same stance Shafer took last fall when the final draft of the plan was made public.

In at least one important area — aid for private colleges — Shafer's proposals are much stronger than the master plan's.

The governor has recommended that state aid for private colleges and universities be phased out over a five-year period and replaced with a doctoral incentive program.

The master plan recommended that state aid for private institutions be frozen at this year's budget level, and that no additional schools be considered for this support.

Moreover, The master plan, itself, proposes a doctoral incentive program: $5,000 for each doctoral student in arts, science, engineering, medicine or veterinary medicine.

"I prefer to see maintenance aid end altogether," Shafer said. "To accomplish this, I am recommending the passage of legislation that would phase out maintenance aid with the doctoral incentive program."

Here's the way the governor's plan would work: —Institutions now receiving state aid would have the assistance frozen at the 1967-68 budget level—a total of about $22 million.

—Schools that qualify under the doctoral incentive program would have their maintenance aid phased out as their doctoral programs grow.

—Institutions without a doctoral program would have their maintenance aid phased out at 20 per cent a year over the next five years. If they established doctoral programs later, they would be eligible for aid at the rate of $5,000 for each qualified student.

"This is a program that makes sense," Shafer said. "Its need is clear."

It is also a program that's bound to make controversy. Many private institutions have already registered loud protests over the prospects of losing state aid.

Shafer also has recommended that the State Board of Education be given the authority to "review and approve all two-year programs, including those of extension campuses."

This means that existing institutions wanting to open branch campuses would have to seek the state board's approval.

The board, which has encountered difficulties with Pennsylvania State University over this issue in the past, has said it considers this policy-making power vital to the future of the community college program.

Shafer's other major proposals:

—Creation of a single board of trustees to govern the 13 state colleges and Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

—Greater autonomy for state college presidents in the daily operation of their schools.

—Permission for the state Public School Building Authority to finance community college construction.

—Creation of a Pennsylvania Science and Engineering Foundation.

—Establishment of a professional incentive program that would permit prospective college teachers to borrow up to $6,000 over a three-year period for full time graduate study.

—Interest free loans, financed by the State Public School Building Authority, for the construction of buildings at private colleges and universities.

—An appropriation of $37 million for scholarships and loans, coupled with a pledge the program will be increased to $60 million a year within three years.

The governor's program represents an increase of $76 million over what the state is now spending on higher education.

"There are those who will say it is not enough. There are others who will say it is too much," Shafer said, adding:

"I submit to you and the people of Pennsylvania that we can do no less. I submit that this is a sensible, rational beginning of bringing to our classrooms the excellence we seek."

N.Y. Conservatives Endorse Candidates

JAMESTOWN — The entire Republican ticket in Jamestown's municipal elections was endorsed yesterday by the Chautauque County Conservative Party.

The Republicans have until Friday to accept or reject an endorsement by the Conservatives. Should the Republicans refuse the endorsement the Conservatives still have time to name their own slate of candidates.

Local officials of the Conservative Party said yesterday afternoon that several Democrats were also approached in that most of them rejected the Conservative Party endorsement.

Eisenhower Thinclads Whip Eagles

Running Dominated By Knights, 81-64

By LARRY G. STEELE
Sports Editor

LANDER — Eisenhower High School won 10 of 17 events, including eight first places on the cinders, to defeat Youngsville here yesterday for the mythical Warren County Class B track and field title.

The Knights set two school marks during their final dual meet of the season, which was marred for four disqualifications in three different events.

Senior Dan Larson lowered his own standard in the two mile run with a 10:46.1 clocking and Dave Burnett, a junior, established a new record in the triple jump on a 39'11" effort to win his second event of the day. He also took the 180-yard low hurdles with a time of :22.5.

The disqualifications hurt the Eagles more than the Knights. Youngsville's two-mile relay team finished five seconds ahead of the host team's four-some, but a curve judge ruled that the Eagles' anchor man had cut in front of the Knights' runner, causing him to break his stride, and Eisenhower was awarded first in the event.

The 880-yard relay quintets were both disqualified by an odd set of circumstances. The Knights took the lead on the first leg, but a bad exchange gave the Eagles a chance to move ahead by a big margin.

The Red and White's second baton trade was made out of the exchange area, disqualifying the Eagles, who then entered and won an appeal that Eisenhower's first exchange had been illegal.

The fourth disqualification did not involve a difference in the point standings, as one Knight lost third place in the 440-yard dash to another, who met officials ruled had finished fourth.

Kay Burleigh was the only double winner for the Eagles. He won the long jump with 19'5" and took the high jump with Eisenhower ace Martin Hoffman on fewer misses. Both had cleared 5'8".

Hoffner turned around and upset favored Bruce Fitzgerald of Youngsville in the javelin with an unimpressive 149'5 1/2".

Fitzgerald, who had defeated Hoffman in the event at the Youngsville Invitational, fouled on two of his attempts.

On the cinders, the Knights were victorious in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, the mile and added the mile relay.

Dick Hale took the century

CHAMP KEEPS TITLE OVER TORRES

Garden Fans Riot After Tiger Awarded Decision

By JACK HAND
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A wild riot erupted in Madison Square Garden last night when Dick Tiger was announced as the winner on a split decision over Jose Torres in their world light heavyweight championship fight.

The only response was more bottles and debris started flying into the ring seconds after announcer Johnny Addie announced Tiger, the defending champion, as the winner on a tight, split decision over their Puerto Rican born Torres, an ex-champion.

At least eight spectators and one usher were treated for injuries, mostly scalp lacerations, at the Garden first aid office and then taken to St. Clare's Hospital for checkups.

It was the third riot in recent history at the Garden. The other two involved Puerto Rican Frankie Alvarez, the last was after his fight with Ismael Larraga.

Torres, who lost his light heavyweight title to Tiger in their last fight, was booed by his own followers in the middle rounds but began to come back in the ninth round.

He scored with sweeping punches to the head and body to take the ninth and 10th but Tiger came back to take the 11th.

Torres then came back to sweep the last four.

They went at a furious pace in the first few rounds, the young Torres obviously looking for a knockout. Then the pace slowed down.

Tiger took over with methodical punching to the body and head through the eighth round. Tiger weighed 167, Torres 173.

Tiger won the title from Torres with a decisive 15-round decision at the Garden Dec. 15. There were no misses thrown at that time.

It was Torres third defeat. He has won 39. Tiger's record is 57-15-3.

There were no knockdowns, although Tiger slipped near the end of the ninth round and his gloves touched the canvas.

Torres had said before the fight he would quit if he lost. Asked about that in his dressing room, he said:

"I probably will, but I'll make a final decision about that in the next few days."

Tiger had a lump over his left eye in the fifth and Torres appeared to be bleeding lightly from his nose for a short time in the eighth round. Neither was cut.

The balcony-based Puerto Rican supporters of Torres were chanting "Jose, Jose," in the early going, but were booed loudly when Tiger rallied through the middle rounds.

They were again loudly shouting and chanting for Torres in the late rounds.

A ring-side poll of writers covering the fight showed the writers favored Torres 7-5 with one calling it a draw.

The crowd was announced as 12,674 with a gross gate receipts of $104,459. Torres gets 20 per cent, Tiger 40, with the same breakdown on television money.

The fight was televised nationally with the New York City area blacked out.

nesota Twins moved from fifth to third on a three-point pick-up to .322.

Paul Casanova, Washington, slipped from second to fourth. He fell 23 points to .321 with a 4-for-17 showing. Rico Petrocelli of Boston is fifth with a .320 average.

Kalme is the RBI leader with 22 and shares first place in freeman with teammate Bill Freehan. Both have seven home runs.

Hank Aaron and Joe Torre of Atlanta are deadlocked for the NL home run lead at 31. Torre has four homers and Aaron three last week and took over the No. 1 spot from Cincinnati's Deron Johnson, sidelined by a leg injury.

Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente continued to set the pace. He had three homers, a double and seven RBI in Monday night's game against Cincinnati, hitting his batting mark to .390 and his runs batted in to a leading 24.

Rusty Staub of Houston climbed into second place in batting with .368 followed by Orlando Cepeda of St. Louis, .357. Cepeda, fourth a week ago, gained nine points with six hits in 15 tries for the week ending Monday.

Al Kalme of Detroit remained on top in the American League batting competition despite a 28-point drop to .364. He had seven hits in 25 times at bat last week. Baltimore's Frank Robinson, last season's triple crown winner, advanced two places to the No. 2 position at .326. Rookie Rod Carew of the Min-

Cloninger Will Be Out 2 Weeks

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Braves announced yesterday they have placed pitcher Tony Cloninger on the disabled list because of the eye ailment which caused his hospitalization last week.

Braves officials said doctors had informed them Cloninger should rest for at least two weeks. He is required to remain on the disabled list for 21 days.

No decision has been made as to who will replace him on the active list.

Cloninger, who has been out of action since he suffered a muscle spasm April 26, has a 1-1 record this season, with an earned run average of 1.89 in 19 innings pitched.

Maury's Spikes Under Scrutiny

NEW YORK (AP) — Approval of the newly-designed, cleated baseball shoes abandoned involuntarily by base-stealing star Maury Wills of Pittsburgh earlier this spring will be considered at a meeting of the official playing rules committee.

Charlie Segar, chairman of the rules committee, said Tuesday the meeting will take place in Anaheim, Calif. on July 10, the day before the major-league All-Star game.

Wills was ordered to abandon his aluminum golf-spike type baseball shoes by Warren Giles, National League president, just before the start of the season.

Sparkle Nips T&C; Drive-In Rips Mets

Sparkle Car Wash and Twin Drive-In opened the Recreation Softball League season with victories yesterday. The Car Washers edged Towne & Country, 9-8 in the last of the seventh inning and Twin routed the New Mineral Well Mets, 10-4.

In a see-saw game at Memorial Field, both T&C and Sparkle scored a run in the first frame, but the Nightclubbers tallied two in the second and added single runs in the third and fourth frames for a 5-1 edge.

Sparkle rallied for four runs in the last of the fourth to tie the game then went ahead for the first time on a lone lally in the fifth.

T & C exploded for three runs in their half of the sixth but Sparkle bounced back with two in the bottom of the frame to knot the score for the third time.

Winning pitcher Doug Baldensperger, on in relief of starter Bucky Wohlers, held T & C in check in the top of the seventh and Sparkle pushed the winning run across in their half of the inning to end the game.

Bob Reese doubled for the victors, Mark Bevelino rapped a three-bagger and Mignogna bombed a homer. Bob Brooker and Jones both hit round-trippers for the losers and Jim Ostergard and Christenson collected doubles.

Twin Drive-In scored early and often to whip the Mets in a West Side contest. After a four-run splurge in the bottom of the first, they added two runs in the second, one in the third and two more in the fourth.

Twin's final tally came in the sixth inning after Mineral Well had scored a pair of runs in both the top of the third and sixth frames.

Happy Hunting Grounds

NEW YORK—Joe Adcock arrived in town just as excitement was simmering down over Mickey Mantle's 500th home run. It is the first visit since his appointment as manager of the Cleveland Indians and the new chief of the Tribe didn't even bring his tomahawk with him. He is no a thinker rather than a doer. But he sure wielded that Tomahawk with devastating effect in our village during his playing days. As far as he was concerned New York was his happy hunting grounds.

Among the historical contributions he made here was the distinction of becoming the first man ever to hit a homer into the center field bleachers at the Polo Grounds and the first to hit one over the grandstand roof at Ebbets Field. And in that old Dodger ball park of blessed memory he also slammed four homers in one game.

Big Joe—he's 235 pounds and 6 feet 4 inches—was an intense, hard-working and perceptive ball player. He has brought those characteristics with him into managing. It's still too early for any judgments to be made on his skills as a dugout Machievelli although he keeps insisting—and rightly so—that Indian fortunes will depend entirely on the good pitching he has at his command. He doesn't have too much of anything else.

He talked cautiously about his hired hands but once the conversation was diverted in the direction of his adventures of a power hitter he was able to ramble away without a concern in the world. For one thing he was on much firmer ground and there was no chance of bruising the tender feelings of his ball players.

"They called me a guess hitter," he said reflectively, "and I won't deny it. All ball players guess whether they admit it or not. Yet what it really amounts to is that I'm looking for a certain pitch. Here's the way it worked when I hit the ball into the centerfield bleachers at the Polo Grounds in 1953.

"Jim Hearn was pitching for the Giants. The first ball he threw me was a fast ball, high and inside. I swung and fouled it off into the Giant dugout. The next pitch was a curve. He wasted that to set me up for the next one.

"As I dug in at the plate, a thought flashed in my mind; I'll bet he'll come through with the same pitch he threw me the first time, the fast ball, high and inside. I was ready for it. The centerfielder that day was Bobby Thomson and he told me afterwards that he started to charge in on it. But it took off like a golf ball and kept riding and riding. As I was running toward first I thought I might get a triple or—if I was lucky—an inside the park homer. I couldn't believe my eyes when I saw it ride all the way into the bleachers.

"Was there guesswork in the homer I hit over the Ebbets Field roof? I'll let you decide. Ed Roebuck was pitching for plate and below my knees. He had fooled me and I barely nicked the ball, sending a grounder to Pee Wee Reese at shortstop for an easy play at first.

"I remembered that pitch when I next came to bat. It wasn't a guess. I knew he'd throw me that identical sinker pitch. I adjusted for it. I closed in my front foot and planted it 18 inches in front of the plate. Roebuck didn't disappoint me. He whipped in the sinker and I hit it over the roof."

Few successful home run hitters ever try deliberately to hammer one into the seats because such extra effort rarely pays off. Yet it had to be presumed that Adcock went for the jackpot in his final at bat in his four-homer epic in 1954.

"I sure die," he said grimly. "On the first three I was only swinging away in carefree fashion. Perhaps the strangest thing about that day was that I only swung my bat five times. I hit a homer, a double and three more homers.

"The first came off a fast ball by Don Newcombe, a line drive into the lower stands in left. The next pitcher was Erv Palica. He gave me a breaking pitch and I sent it into the upper deck in left. Then came Pete Wojew with a breaking pitch that also went into the left field upper stands. I took a dreadful riding before my last at bat. The guys in the dugout accused me of being greedy and asked me if I really wanted to take my cut.

"Yes, I said, 'then I'll always be able to say I had a chance to go for a fourth homer.'"

"Johnny Podres was pitching then and he really worried me because he kept teasing me. He threw two that were high and over my head. I was afraid he'd walk me. His third pitch was also high but I swung anyway. The ball kept riding and riding until it landed in the center field seats."

Jack Colvin went the route for Twin to notch the win and Joe Castil suffered the defeat.

Larry Bearfield ripped a double and homer to pace Twin Drive-In. Bob Barney hit a two-bagger and Don Baldy had a three-for-three night at the plate. Mineral Well failed to collect an extra basehit.

Cassius Denied One Delay Appeal, Tries for Another

By B.F. KELLUM

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal judge took under advisement yesterday a motion for a two-month delay of the scheduled June 5 trial of former heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, charged with failure to be inducted into the armed services.

Hayden Covington of New York City, Clay's chief attorney, and Quinn Hodges, a Houston lawyer, asked U.S.

Dist. Judge Joe Ingraham to postpone the trial until Aug. 1. Judge Ingraham also heard arguments on five other defense motions. He granted one and part of another, denied one, deferred one and took another under advisement.

Meanwhile, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at Jacksonville, Fla., refused yesterday to delay the June 5 trial date pending settlement of civil suits filed by Clay's attorneys. In his plea here for a continuance, Covington said it would be "impossible for us to announce we're ready until we have all the evidence."

"We are not looking for time...just to delay," he said. "I have not seen the draft board file. It would be humanly impossible to get ready in such a short time."

Cokes, Pavilla Ready for Bout

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Welterweight champion Curtis Cokes and his French challenger Francois Pavilla went through final hard training routines yesterday in preparation for their title fight Friday night. Cokes expects to weigh 145 while Pavilla said he will make the 147-pound limit exactly.

Each fighter sparred Tuesday. Cokes went three rounds against Joe Barrientes, a preliminary boy on the Friday night card. Pavilla went four rounds against Richard and Johnny Cole, Dallas twins.

Cokes got in 90 rounds of sparring while Pavilla had 150 rounds training in Paris and eight more in Dallas.

Tribe Fed Up, Planning To Trade Colavito Soon

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A wall of ice formed yesterday between Rocky Colavito and the Cleveland front office, and the unofficial report was that the disgruntled Indian outfielder was on the trading block.

Sources close to the American League baseball club predicted that the 33-year-old home run specialist probably would be peddled off to another team within a week or 10 days.

The New York Yankees and Los Angeles Dodgers were said to be the best prospective buyers, followed by the Chicago Cubs, who nibbled mildly in the spring. He would have to be waived out of the league before going to the Dodgers or Cubs.

In all cases, there was one main drawback — Colavito's $55,000 yearly salary. Not many teams are willing to undertake that kind of financial burden.

Colavito said he suspected that Gabe Paul, the Cleveland general manager, was anxious to trade him but he preferred to stay in Cleveland—if they'll let him play full time.

Paul, in town for the New York Yankee series, was grim and noncommittal.

Manager Joe Adcock was equally close mouthed on the trade issue but was outspoken on the latest tensions involving him and the still popular outfielder.

"That has been openly known as a growing disenchantment between Colavito and his bosses came to a head Monday when Rocky spilled his unhappiness publicly — not to his employers but to Cleveland newspapermen.

In a carefully, hand written note, scribbled on the plane to New York, he said he didn't like the idea of playing part time — platooning with Leon Wagner in left field — but wanted a chance to play full time.

"That's all I want," he said, "a chance to earn back the money they cut me."

After hitting only 238 last year, although he poked 30 homers, Colavito saw his salary cut $12,000 from $67,000.

Minor Loop Suspends 'Super Jew'

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Only hours after the Rochester Red Wings said they would take no immediate action, the International League baseball team announced that it had suspended first baseman Mike Epstein for refusing to report to the club.

"I see no reason for holding up the suspension any longer," Morris Silver, president of the minor league team, said after learning Epstein had left the East Coast to take a public-relations post in California.

"The suspension is indefinite and without pay," Silver said. "But I do hope Mike will come back and play for the Red Wings this year."

Epstein, 24, failed to break into the Baltimore Orioles' lineup this spring, and the American League team sent him to its Rochester farm club last week.

Epstein, 6-foot-3 and 230 pounds, since has received an offer to wrestle professionally. Earlier yesterday, Silver had said he refused to believe Epstein was "about to give up what could be a long and worthwhile career in a sport in which he excels."

Epstein was reported in line for a $10,000-a-year salary with Rochester.

He insisted that he felt the Indians could score more runs with both Wagner and him in the line-up, and he added:

"I don't think a player is worth a damn if he's not willing to fight to play every day."

He hinted that he felt he was being slighted on orders handed down by Paul. "Gabe Paul would love to have me say, 'Trade me,'" Colavito said. "But I won't say that because that's not what I really want."

Asked why he had chosen this means of airing his complaint, Colavito said, "I went to Adcock in spring training and again after the season started. I figured this was the only other way."

Adcock appeared peeved over Rocky's round-about action. The manager insisted he had no intention of calling Colavito in for a talk. Colavito said he wouldn't go to Adcock again, so the cold war was joined.

"I manage this team and when I think Colavito can help by playing, he'll play," Adcock said tersely.

Colavito was a Cleveland favorite between 1954 and 1959 as a home run hitter; was traded to Detroit in 1960 and to Kansas City in 1964, returning to the Indians in 1965. In 1965, he batted .287, hitting 26 homers, but slumped last year. In 15 games this year, his average is .297.

Eight Colts Enter Preakness Running

By GEORGE BOWEN
Associated Press Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — The probable field for Saturday's $150,000-added Preakness reached eight yesterday with the addition of Herbert Allen's Favorable Turn.

Trainer Gene Jacobs advised Pimlico officials of the intention to ship Favorable Turn to Baltimore from Aqueduct where the dark brown colt finished fourth Saturday in the Withers Mile.

The other 3-year-olds expected to be entered tomorrow morning for the 1 3-16 mile contest are Kentucky Derby winner Proud Clarion, Barbs Delight, Ask The Fare, In Reality, Damascus, Great Power and Reason to Hail.

The only one in the group over which there is doubt is Wheatley Stable's Great Power. He still is in New York, the only absentee.

If the eight enter and start, there will be $190,000 in prize money to distribute, only $300 shy of a record.

In joining the first five finishers from the Kentucky Derby—Proud Clarion, Barbs Delight, Damascus, Reason to Hail and Ask The Fare—Favorable Turn has only one distinctive showing in his record. That was last year in winning the Saratoga Special, one of two victories in 12 races.

The Withers was only the third start this year for the son of Turn-To and none landed him in the winner's circle.

The center of attraction at the Preakness barn yesterday morning was Sunshine Calvert, trainer of In Reality for Mrs. Frances A. Center of Minneapolis.

In Reality and Holiday Stables' Ask The Fare were the only two of the Preakness line-up to work up a sweat on the track, however, Trainer Jere Smith of Ask The Fare returned to Chicago immediately and Calvert held court for visitors.

He was questioned mostly about why In Reality did not start in the Kentucky Derby and hasn't raced since winning the Florida Derby April 1.

"The decision not to go in Kentucky was mine and whether I was wrong we'll never know will we?" said the former jockey. "There were many reasons I took into consideration. The size of the field (14), the condition of that track and I don't like to race a horse too much."

Calvert had planned to give In Reality a prep race at Pimlico last Friday, but only three others were entered and it was canceled.

In Reality has impressive credentials to throw at the Derby brigade led by John Calbreath's Proud Clarion. The bay son of Intentionally has been either first or second in 11 of his 12 races.

He won four out of seven last year and three of five this season. In addition to the Florida Derby, in Reality won the Illinois and Fountain of Youth in Florida and was second in two other major races there before coming north.

Although in Reality has been out of competition a month and a half, Calvert is satisfied he is ready to tackle the Preakness field which he terms "the best of the remaining 3-year-olds."

He brushed aside any concern over track conditions, speed and training. "The greatest thing a jockey or trainer can have going for him in a race is the best horse," he said wisely. "I hope I got him."

The Preakness post time will be 5:30 p.m., EDT. The CBS television cameras will be focused on Pimlico from 5 to 5:45 p.m.

Yanks to Honor Mick for Homer.

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees announced yesterday that a plaque commemorating Mickey Mantle's 500th home run would be placed in Yankee Stadium at the spot where the ball cleared the right field fence.

In a brief ceremony before the Yankees' game with Cleveland, club president Michael Burke also presented Mantle, who hit his 500th career homer Sunday, with a $500 savings bond for each of his four sons.

The Yankee outfielder will also be given a trophy honoring the event.

DOV WISCHER, PAUL HARRINGTON

Honor Two at UF Thank You Day

The third bi-annual Thank You Day luncheon of the Warren County United Fund was highlighted Tuesday with special recognition for two volunteer workers.

The awards went to Paul E. Harrington, vice president, Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Company and Donald H. Wischer, manager of management services, Thomas Coupling Division, Rex Chainbelt, Inc.

Harrington, who has been in funding since 1924, served as president of the Community Chest in 1954 and was again president in 1965 when the Red Cross and Chest combined to form the first United Fund. Harrington has also served on the Boy Scout board of directors and as chapter chairman and treasurer of the Red Cross. He has long been active in the affairs of the Kiwanis Club, Holy Redeemer Church and the Chamber of Commerce of which he was president in 1957.

Wischer moved to Warren in 1962. He has served as chairman of the United Fund budget committee, chairman of the special committee which organized the UF, and is now a vice president of the UF board of directors.

Wischer helped establish a payroll deduction plan for Thomas Coupling and has worked as a solicitor in the UF Industrial Division. He is a member of the YMCA board of directors, chairman of the Industrial Division of the Chamber of Commerce, a member of Kiwanis Club and the First Lutheran Church. The awards were presented to the two men by B. W. Knapp, one of the first persons to win the UF award in 1963.

Four local industries were also honored with "awards of excellence" yesterday. Receiving special plaques were Betts Machine Company; GTI Corporation, Crystal Components Division; Thomas Coupling Division, Rex Chainbelt, Inc., and Struthers Wells Corporation.

Edward Ryberg, UF president, who made the awards, said they were given to these four companies for their superior effort last fall in supporting the United Fund campaign. They showed increased giving ranging from 26 per cent to 186 per cent.

Ryberg also presented awards to 22 other companies for their outstanding support in 1965 and 1966 campaigns. The winners were:

Columbia Gas Company, General Concrete Products, Times Mirror and Observer, Loranger Manufacturing, Myers Laboratories, New Process Company, Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Co., Walker Creamery Products, Bell Telephone Company, Pennsylvania Furnace and Iron Co., Pennsylvania Gas Co., Sylvania Electric Products Inc., United Refining Co., Pennsylvania Electric Co., National Forge Co., Warren National Bank Northwest Savings, Crescent Furniture Co.

Warren Car Co., Agway, Inc., Warren Concrete Products Co. and Allegheny-Buffalo China.

Walter H. Bergler, vice president National Forge Co., was the keynote speaker for the program attended by one hundred and ten men and women representing service clubs, industry, and the United Fund organization.

Raymond Stein, past president of the UF, was toastmaster and Mrs. Donald Spencer gave the invocation.

Jamestown Briefs

Two Summerdale brothers, Gary L. Hannold, 23, and Edwin E. Hannold, 23, charged with third-degree burglary, have been jailed pending sentencing on June 5 in Chautauque County Court. The pair are among five persons who had sentencing dates set after pleading in Chautauque County Court Monday.

The International Association of Machinists Union, District 65, has gone on record to financially support 300 workmen of Kling Factories Division of Baumritter's, New York City, who have been on strike since May 1 at plants in Mayville, Falconer, and Frewsburg.

Staff members of the Chautauque County Board of Elections were busy yesterday handling designating petitions for the June 20 primary election. Yesterday was the final day for filing petitions.

The coveted Silver Beaver Award was received by George H. Dawson of Jamestown at the annual recognition dinner of the Chautauque County Boy Scout Council held Monday night at the Maple Grove High School at Bemus Point.

Month-Long Celebration In St. Marys

ST. MARYS — This community will celebrate its 125th anniversary next month with a jam-packed week of old-fashioned fun.

The highlight of the month-long celebration will be the week of June 18-23. During the week, visitors will see a horse-shoe pitching contest, square dancing in the open air at night, a e r d-judging, memorial church services, the tri-county firemen's convention, a costume dance, teenage entertainment bands, and shows of arts, crafts, horses, coins, and guns.

Miss Pennsylvania will be on hand for the celebration. Saturday, June 24, one of the largest soap-box derbies in the state will be part of the activities. Also scheduled are an all-day chicken barbecue and a parade with historical floats and marching bands.

A coin, designed by a local artist, will be struck to commemorate the occasion. Windows in the downtown area will feature displays on the historical significance of the celebration.

Seminar Scheduled

A seminar of collective bargaining, "Emerging Characteristics - 1967," will be held Saturday at the Jamestown Community College. Among those taking part in the Seminar will be two Federal mediators from Buffalo and a member of the National Labor Relations Board, from Washington D.C.

Erie Assault Trial Continues in Court

ERIE—James Martin's trial on a charge of assault with intent to kill, in connection with a shot fired at an Erie patrolman February 1, was scheduled to be continued yesterday.

Martin, 23, 617 E. 11th, is accused of firing a .22 caliber revolver at Patrolman William R. Beard. The bullet struck the cruiser in which Beard was riding. The defendant took the stand in his behalf Monday, testifying he was merely walking around that night and visited a few taverns.

Michael Mazurski, 20, RD 2,

Waterford, declined to testify in Martin's trial, invoking the Fifth amendment right not to incriminate himself.

Earlier, Mary Ann Kotyuk, 21, formerly of Erie and one of a trio nabbed in Forest County by Warren County's Chief Deputy Sheriff Richard E. Hegerty and State Police Trooper Gary L. Rann, in connection with a series of camp burglaries, testified as a commonwealth witness. Miss Kotyuk, who was released by Judge Alexander C. Fleck Jr., last Friday, in order to appear as a witness at the Martin trial, testified she was with Martin in a stolen car when a shot was fired at the patrolman.

Motel Guests

Robbed in Erie Shrine Club Luncheon

ERIE—State police at the Lawrence Park barracks are investigating a series of burglaries at the Howard Johnson Motor Lodge, Routes 19 and 90 between 1:30 and 6:30 a.m. Sunday that netted thieves more than $1,500.

The unknown intruders entered the rooms, apparently by a passkey, and slipped the bill-folds out of trouser pockets while guests were asleep. Amounts taken from the visitors, mostly couples, ranged from $18 to $447.

Motel manager Richard Bordeaux theorized someone had fashioned a passkey using one of the rooms as a model. He also explained that none of the 11 persons victimized had locked the safety lock on the room doors.

Shrine Club Luncheon Cancelled for Dinner

The regular luncheon Friday for members of the Warren County Shrine Club has been cancelled.

The cancellation was made since Shriners will be entertaining their ladies at a dinner-dance Saturday.

The 6:30 p.m. affair will be held at the Saybrook recreation center.

Social Security Recipients in County 6,578

Lewis Epstein, Social Security District Manager in Jamestown reported Monday that 6,578 men, women, and children in Warren County were receiving social security benefits at a monthly rate of $497,619 at the end of 1966.

Social security is not just for older people, Epstein pointed out. At the end of the year, 664 young widows and children in the Warren County area were receiving benefits amounting to $45,524 and 579 disabled workers and dependents were receiving benefits at a monthly rate of $43,212.

Epstein added, "Practically every young family in Warren County has survivors protection under social security, that can be worth $75,000 or more, and equally valuable disability insurance protection."

LaPoint Promoted By Sylvania Parts

The appointment of Harold E. LaPoint as general manufacturing manager of the Parts Division of Sylvania Electric Products Inc., was announced yesterday by Eugene E. Brocker, vice president and division General Manager. Sylvania is a subsidiary of General Telephone & Electronics Corporation.

LaPoint is responsible for manufacturing operations in the division's eight plants located here and in Titusville, Shawnee, Okla., York, Pa., and Naugatuck, Conn.

He joined Sylvania in Montoursville, Pa. in 1943 and was appointed cost accountant for the Williamsport, Pa., offices of the Electronic Tube Division in 1947. The following year, he was named cost accountant for the Parts Division here and in 1953 became supervisor of manufacturing cost control.

In 1961, LaPoint was named Supervisor of Internal Auditing at Camillus, N.Y., and was named controller of the Parts Division in 1962. He has been manufacturing manager of the division's four plants here since 1965.

LaPoint will continue to make his headquarters here.

Flea Market Has Roots in France

As Warren people scratch around for discarded things to take to the Summer Theatre Flea Market, coming next Friday and Saturday, May 18 and 19, at the garage-port in the rear of the Stuart Myers home, 511 Market street, how many know Paris started the first Flea Market in the 1880's?

Rag pickers used to sift through the city's ash cans at dawn, and bring their bags of discovery north of Paris to the abandoned fortifications. Old clothes men joined the rag picker's Sunday market; thieves added their pickings. The name, Flea Market, came naturally. Old furniture men moved in, antique hunters came. Parisians thought it a lark to get to the Flea Market early for bargains of many kinds. The tourist followed suit.

The frugal French peasant and the free-spending visitor enjoy the same sport: bargain hunting. The Paris Flea Market has become a gigantic higgledy-piggledy sale, with 3,000 booths, stalls, stands, lean-tos, push-carts, and even tents and bazaars crowded into a few acres of bruised earth.

Many of the items sold once filled the fine houses of France. But fortunes and furnishings change hands. Many things go down and down an endless social ladder until they are rediscovered at the Flea Market, and may one day, as rare antiques, reach the top again. The idea of the Flea Market has spread around the world, to London, Madrid, Hong Kong, and right now in Warren, Pa. People of all countries are sensitive to the bite of the bug. . . the bargain.

"There is something about an open air market that lets the bargain hunter browse at ease," explained a Summer Theatre Marketeer. "besides there's a pleasant feeling, you're not paying any overhead."

The Summer Theatre Flea Market asks for your contributions, to help finance their new barn, the Plowright barn, 10 miles from Warren on the Scandia road. Call 723-3754 and your donations will be picked up for the sale.

The Summer Theatre Flea Market is open to the bargain-hunter on Friday and Saturday, May 18 and 19 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY SHOWS:

Allegheny River 'Clean' In Upper Drainage Area

The Allegheny River in Warren County is "clean" of mineral content hazardous to aquatic life, according to a U.S. Geological Survey report.

The water resources division of the Geological Survey office for Pennsylvania announced publication of the report yesterday. More than 1,100 samples of water were taken from 109 selected locations along the river and its tributaries.

The survey sought to define chemical content of the river water and identify the factors which contribute most to the changes in water chemistry at eight sites along the river.

In the local section of the river, Kinzua Dam to Tonesta, the report said, the predominant constituents of chemical nature are sodium and chloride-salt content. The mineral comes from the discharge of oil wells in the upstream area.

Oil wells pierce salt-bearing rock and discharge saltwater. There is leakage of saltwater even after oil wells cease to produce oil.

Streams in the Bradford area and Kinzua Creek contribute most of the chlorides. However, these chemicals have little effect on the aquatic life of either the river or its tributaries. In some instances, the salt can kill damaging bacteria.

The report also emphasized the importance of the "flow augmentation" feature of Kinzua Dam, stating that the release of waters during the summer months will greatly reduce the percentage of dissolved solids in the downstream portions of the river.

In all, the report indicates that at Warren, the river's waters are within the range of purity necessary for domestic, industrial, irrigation, and stock watering purposes.

In the upper portion of the river, the report blamed oil-drilling and well wastes for nearly all noticeable chemical pollution. In upper basin streams, chloride concentration exceeded 2,800 parts per million in some places.

Downstate portions of the river have a more serious problem—acid mine drainage. More than 1,000 miles of streams in the Allegheny drainage system are affected in some degree by coal mine drainage, the report said. Near Freeport, as much as 300 tons of sulfuric acid have been discharged daily into the river by the Kiskiminetas River. Damage to water by mines wastes, the report said, in announcing the report, "there are many good sources of water supply in segments of the Allegheny and its tributaries that are unaffected by pollution, low in dissolved solids, and are relatively pure. "Game fish abound in these waters as they flow through the Appalachian mountains, impoundment of some streams would increase the recreational potential of several regions in Western Pennsylvania and provide ready sources of suitable water for low streamflow augmentation."

The report is entitled "Chemical Quality of Surface Water in the Allegheny River Basin, Pa., N.Y.," and is listed under Geological Survey Water-Supply Paper 1835, written by Edward F. McCarran. The 74 pages include an index, 18 illustrations, 19 tables, and a geohydrology map which shows sampling sites and the potential yield of ground water in the region. The report was prepared in cooperation with the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters.

Those interested may obtain copies at either the U.S. Geological Survey office, Room 607, Customs House, Philadelphia, or at 100 N. Cameron st., Harrisburg. The report also is for sale by the superintendent of documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C.

Bell Telephone Co. Workers Walk Out

Fifty-seven local members of the Federation of Telephone Workers of Pennsylvania did not report for work yesterday, according to Robert Dilks, Warren manager of Bell Telephone Co.

The union action, which is statewide, is in protest of a disciplinary action against a Bell Telephone driver, who backed into a parked vehicle in Bucks County.

According to Dilks the driver involved was suspended by the company for 5½ hours without pay.

The case involves failure to follow standard safety procedures wherein, when two men are in a vehicle, the man not driving gets out to direct the driver in backing.

Locally, those members of the federation who did not report for work are, for the most part, installation and repairmen, plant department workers, and construction men, Dilks said.

The Bell system has established an enviable safety record over the years by adherence to safety practices, Dilks commented, and company officials are at a loss to understand the union's attitude in matters concerning the safety of their members and the public, he added.

Meetings between the union and company officials were held Monday and Tuesday in Philadelphia. Federation members should be working while the regular grievance procedure is followed.

Telephone service across Pennsylvania is expected to be normal and installations and repairs will be made, Dilks said.

Three Mothers Guests Today

Town Crier

... By Les Rickey

The next time you see a live caterpillar crawling across your living room floor, don't kill it. Set it aside for the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and look around for its buddies.

This is the advice of a news release that crossed my desk yesterday, one of hundreds of informative little tidbits that flow through the mail daily. This particular release was aimed at what must be an immense audience: those who plan to bring live caterpillars to the State Department of Agriculture for identification.

The department doesn't want just one sample. If that's all you can send, don't even bother them. They want several, one to "preserve" (a euphemism for pickled), and the rest to grow into moths, if that's their inclination.

"It's much easier to identify an adult (moth) than it is a caterpillar," the release said. And I'm sure it must be true, because no one would lie about a thing like that.

Now if you plan to send beetles, termites, and other such critters through the mail, place them in a box lined with tissue paper or a vial with enough tissue paper to keep them from being knocked about, the department advises. This is not out of compassion for the insect-cancellation machines "play havoc with insects bodies." If you plan to send stuff like that through the mail, I think the least you can do is tell your postman what he's carrying. The life you save may bring you the next income tax check.

Just think. Thousands of years of research and trial-and-error experimentation went into developing the paper, machinery, and language to produce news releases of such paramount importance.

HARMONIOUS VOICES IN ONE GIANT CHORUS will be raised across the Western Hemisphere tomorrow, May 18th. This is the day that has been designated "Share A Song Day" by the 17,000 Sweet Adelines of 450 choruses — and more than 700 quartets — in the United States, including of course, Hawaii and Alaska, as well as Canada and the Panama Canal Zone. This international organization of singing women, dedicated to the promotion, instruction and enjoyment of 4-part barbershop harmony, will share their favorite songs with audiences at hospitals, homes for the aged, civic assemblies and charity benefits — their way of celebrating their 20th Anniversary. Here in Warren, the local chapter will perform for the Drama Club of Warren State Hospital at 7:45 p.m. in the hospital's auditorium. The program will include selections from their recent show "Shamrocks 'N' Shillelaghs". And, in an effort to produce "the most harmonious border incident in a hundred years", American and Canadian chapters will meet and sing at border cities, as a sort of coincidental salute to the proud 100th birthday Canada is celebrating.

A CLOTHESLINE ART EXHIBIT, the 13th annual Ridgway exhibit, is all set for Saturday, June 3, and is being presented by the Art Division of the Village Improvement Association. It is being held on the Elk County Courthouse lawn — or inside, if the weather is inclement. Registration of exhibitors will be from 10 a.m. to 12 noon; judging will be at 1 p.m.; the exhibit will be open until 5:30 p.m. And, any amateur artist may enter at 50 cents per entry (no charge for students). Classifications will be: Original oils; original watercolors; original other media such as pastels, graphics, collages, etcetera; crafts; reproductions, any media; Junior and Senior High School (7th to 12th grades) any media. For further information contact Mrs. George Smith, secretary, Art Division V.I.A., 95 Mohawk, Ridgway.

I DON'T KNOW HOW MANY would travel from here to St. Marys for a concert, but a concert is scheduled there, and they have requested that people in this area be made aware of it. The Young Adult Dance Association of St. Marys is sponsoring the appearance of the "Question Mark and The Mystery Men" in the Elk County Christian High School Auditorium on Saturday, June 3rd. Curtain time is 9 p.m., with the performance ending at 11:45 p.m. (There will also be an intermission performance by an Erie folk singing group.) According to Dave Samick of YADA of St. Marys, the band is from New York, is nationally known, and has recorded various hit songs. Admission will be $4 for reserved seats and $3 for general admission — Further information may be obtained from Mr. Samick at 477 Dippold avenue, St. Marys, or, Tony Gerg, Taft Road, St. Marys, Zip Code 15857.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 18, unmarried and pregnant. My sister and her husband have been very good to me. When I told them about my condition they insisted that I move into their apartment. My sister works so I have been keeping house for them, which I don't mind a bit.

The problem is this: My sister has been trying to have a family for four years but no luck. The doctor says there is nothing wrong with her and suggested that her husband be checked. He refuses to be checked so my sister thinks he is unable to have a child. I know different because he is the father of my unborn baby. Of course my sister does not know it and I'd rather die than tell her.

They both want my baby but I'm afraid it would break my heart to see this child grow up under my eyes.

My brother-in-law claims I have no right to deprive him of the only child he may ever produce. Please, please tell me what to do. I'm going crazy. I can't get any mail here for obvious reasons so print your answer and I will ditch the paper when my letter appears in print. Thank you—WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Your brother-in-law is a fine one to tell you what you have a right to do. He has already demonstrated what his judgment is worth. Get in touch with the Family Service Association and make arrangements to go to a home for unwed mothers as soon as possible. Put your baby up for adoption and forget about giving him to your relatives.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We are students at a well-known high school and need your help and soon. Your answer could start a whole new swing toward justice, Ann, so please don't let us down.

I am only one of several seniors who has played in the band for three years and will be graduating in June. This will be a big day in our lives. The music teacher insists that we play in the band for graduation exercises which means we will not be able to enjoy the honor of marching with the class and sitting on the stage and doing all the things the graduating class gets to do.

Do you feel this is fair? Please print this letter and your answer. —SOUR NOTES

DEAR NOTES: No, I do not think it is fair and I hope the teacher will reverse the decision. Perhaps the quality of the graduation music will suffer if the seniors are marching instead of playing, but so what? You kids should not be deprived of the full flavor of graduation because you play in the band. I am on your side and you can quote me.

Confidential to Filled with Doubt: Some people who are institutionalized are better balanced and more rational than some individuals who are walking the streets. Moreover, each of us, no matter how "sane," at some time or another behaves in a way that could be considered a little balmy. This may sound like a contradiction, but it is normal to be occasionally abnormal.

Do you feel ill at ease... out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

115 Attend Chandlers Valley Mother-Daughter Banquet

A mother-daughter banquet sponsored by the W.S.W.S. of the Chandlers Valley E.U.B. Church was held at the church with 115 persons in attendance. Phyllis Loomis, toastmistress, introduced the following program: Invocation—Mae Johnson; greetings—Ruth DeRemer; devotions—Rowena Spencer; tribute to mothers—Cindy Taylor; tribute to daughters—Gloria Taylor; tribute to grandmothers—Carol Lawson. Mrs. Jane Gage led group singing accompanied by the Rev. Charles McIntyre at the piano. Awards were presented to Mrs. Mae Johnson, 85, the oldest mother present, and Mrs. Linda Cross, the youngest mother present. Other mothers honored in special categories were Mrs. Kenneth Carlson, for being present with the youngest daughter, Stacie, 4 weeks old; Mrs. Romalene Griggs, youngest

Bride And Groom Receive Papal Blessing At Nuptials

St. Joseph Church on Saturday morning, May 13, at 11 o'clock, was the setting for the wedding of Sally Joan Sealise to Thomas Lloyd Stewart. The double ring wedding rites were read by the Rev. Father Norman Smith, assistant pastor, who also was the celebrant of the Nuptial Mass. Before the bride placed a bouquet on the altar, honoring the Blessed Mother, and, Father Smith read aloud the special Papal Blessing of Pope Paul VI, bestowed on the bride and groom.

Mrs. Thomas Donnelly was the organist and Richard Smith was the vocalist. A program of appropriate music was given preceding the nuptials and during the Mass. The candlelighted altar was ornamented with baskets of white gladioli, carnations and mums.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin J. Sealise of 32 S. Pine street, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Spillane of 270 Boylston street, Brockton, Massachusetts.

Escorted on the arm of her father, the bride approached the altar in a long slim sleeveless gown of white peau de sole over which was worn a coat of Portuguese lace which swept into a graceful chapel train. Her brief veil of the same lace was caught to a peau de sole rose, and she carried white roses arranged on a white Missal.

The maid of honor, Phyllis A. Sealise, sister of the bride, from the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, wore a long sheath of pastel blue crepe with white eyelet bodice and headdress of blue daisies and veiling. She carried blue and white daisies. Costumed identically was the bridesmaid, Mary Lou Mancuso, from Fordham University, New York City.

Best Man was Mario Falzarano, uncle of the groom, from West Bridgewater, Massachusetts, and the usher was Richard Crowley of Elmwood, Massachusetts.

The mother of the bride wore a pink silk linen and lace ensemble with matching hat and accessories. The mother of the groom chose a blue silk linen dress with matching lace coat and accessories. Both mothers had corsages of white sweet-heart roses. Mrs. Florence Jones, grandmother of the bride, was also remembered with a corsage of white roses.

A luncheon was held after the Nuptial Mass, at the Penn Laurel for members of both families and the bridal party. For traveling the new Mrs. Stewart wore a long sleeve dress and coat in pink, with black patent accessories, and a corsage of white roses. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will reside at 308 West Elm street, Apartment 4, Brockton, Massachusetts, 02401.

The couple met in Rome, Italy, where the bride was employed by the State Department as a secretary in the United States Embassy and the groom was serving with the State Department as a Marine Security Guard in the Embassy. Mr. Stewart is now attending Northeastern Institute of Technology in Boston, Massachusetts.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Miss Mary Lou Mancuso

Special Guests For Council PTA Meeting Tomorrow

Special guest speakers at the final meeting for this year of Warren Council of PTA will be Mrs. William Richter, immediate past president of the Erie County Council, PTA, and Mrs. Patrick DeMatteo, a past president of the Erie City Council, PTA.

As representatives of two very strong and active councils, it is felt that their "Council to Council Dialogue" will be of value to the local group.

The meeting is taking place tomorrow evening at 7:30, in the Market Street School. A recognition ceremony will be held for incoming unit presidents, and it is urged that all unit officers, representatives, and other interested members, attend.

Household Hint

A thin coat of furniture wax on painted furniture protects it from minor scratches, keeps colors from fading and makes cleaning easier.

You can remove vegetable stains from your hands by rubbing with a slice of wet potato.

Old net curtains make excellent dishcloths. Pile six layers together and stitch using the quilting attachment on your sewing machine.

Make place mats from the still-good portions of an old table oilcloth. Cut with pinking shears for a fancy edge.

Starching protects cottons and linens from soiling; restores the original finish, too.

Enamel an old-fashioned piano stool to match your kitchen. Use it for ironing and other sit-down chores.

WCTU Has 'Family Heritage' Program Theme

The Central WCTU held its May meeting in Dunham parlors of First Methodist Church with Mrs. Isabell Maines, Mrs. Carrie Meredith and Mrs. Anna Klenck, the hostesses. Mrs. William Muir had charge of devotions, and the theme was "Our Family Heritage". Mrs. Ruth Lindquist was the vocal soloist and Mrs. Faye McInturf the accompanist. Mrs. Margaret Schwab read the "Beatitudes For Mothers" on her program; Miss Twila McDowell read various tributes to mothers by great men in history; Mrs. Schwab read "A Tribute To Mothers" by Judy Royal; Esther Swanson read "Will God Forgive You When You Forget To Pray?" Mrs. McInturf, vice president, presided at the business meeting. The membership voted to give the Rev. Harold G. Powell $10 for his radio work, and $5 to the Y.T.C.

The date of the June meeting will be June 15, at which time L.T.L. members will have the program under the direction of Mrs. Luella Mallory and Mrs. Ruth Crooks.

Grange Notes

First and Second Degrees work by the Seventh Degree Association will take place at the next meeting of Watson Grange, scheduled for Thursday, May 25. It was announced at the recent meeting that applicants from all other Granges will be welcome.

Master Florence Spencer presided at the meeting which was attended by fifteen members and five juveniles. The charter was draped in memory of Past State Master Beatty H. Demit, and the Centennial Candle was lit by Overseer Albert Watson.

After the opening song, "Home Sweet Home", Bonnie Higginbotham, secretary, read applications from five new members, and three for reinstatement. Lecturer Ruby Wilcox honored all mothers with the following program: "A Tribute To Mother", reading by Ray Wilcox; "Mothers Day", a poem by Dave Spencer; "Ma's Kitchen Goes Modern", a monologue by Florence Spencer; song, "I Want A Girl", by everyone; "What A Difference A Few Years Make", presented by Neva Matie and Jean Hollibaugh; poem, "A Grandmother Is", by Virginia Watson; song, "Old Folks At Home", and the closing number, "Nearer My God To Thee". A yellow mum was presented to each mother by the lecturer.

'Friendly Town' Families' Preparatory Meeting, Friday

Families entertaining children for Friendly Town this summer will meet at the YWCA at 8:15 Friday evening (May 19) for a host preparation meeting. Coming from the Cleveland Inner-City Protestant Parish for this meeting will be the Rev. Gordon Major, who is a pastor in a small store front church. He and his wife grew up in Wisconsin, Iowa, and Illinois, but chose to minister in the heart of the city. They and their three small children live in one of the city's most blighted neighborhoods.

The Rev. Major will tell of the community and the types of families from which children will come to Warren County this summer. There will be time for questions and answers. However, specific assignments will not be available until early in June.

Twenty-nine area families are participating in this project and it is hoped that all will be represented at the Friday evening meeting. These families expect to have as their guests 35 Cleveland children from June 29 to July 9.

While in Warren the Major family will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Davis, 411 Liberty Street, Mrs. Davis is local chairman of Warren's Friendly Town. Arrangements for Friday's meeting at the YWCA are being made by the Program Planning and the Young Adult Committees of the Y.

Household Hint

When making draperies or bedspreads thumbtack a large pillowcase behind your sewing machine or table. As you sew each panel, guide the fabric into the pillowcase. Keeps it off the floor so it doesn't get soiled.

Youngsville Poppy Days

Poppies will brighten the streets of Youngsville as the women of Halgren-Wilcox Unit 658 American Legion auxiliary prepare for their annual observance of Poppy days Thursday and Friday this week.

With out country preparing to defend itself against new dangers, wearing of the Poppy will have increased significance this year. The little red memorial flower reminds us of the sacrifices made for the freedom and security of America in the past and gives us inspiration for service to our country in the present emergency.

If they had not fought we would have no Memorial Day to celebrate, no freedom to worship, no freedom to speak.

Chairman of the Poppy committee, Mrs. Milton Brown, asks that you not forget THEM on Poppy days. They can't forget. Wear your Poppy proudly.

Bible Club Note

All boys and girls who have participated in Released Time Bible Clubs under Mrs. May Minser are invited to hear her devotions on Monday, May 22, at the 7 p. m. meeting in the Chancellors Valley EUB Church. Oscar H. Hirt, international director of the Bible Club Movement, will be the guest speaker. Parents and all others interested are welcome to the 6 o'clock fellowship supper which will precede the meeting. Each family is asked to bring tureens according to its size.

Heloise Hints

DEAR HELOISE.

We just had our first baby. My wife was given many showers, but the greatest gift of all was a little card which said, "This entitles you to two weeks of free diaper service." Why don't you tell others about this?

Jim's Daddy

Now this is really something needed.

When you stop to think about it, any Mother who comes home with a new baby has so much to do and Papa has so many bills . . . that this would be about one of the most appreciated gifts. Mother doesn't realize it at the baby shower—but she will weeks later!

When that little darling cries, the formula has to be fixed and Mother's tired. Just think of how many times she's going to bless you because she doesn't have to wash those dummies. Fourteen consecutive days! Isn't that wonderful?

And thanks, new father, for letting us hear from you. Now go kiss your sweet offspring for all of us. And congratulations to all three!

A New You by Emily Wilkens

In The New You Mailbag

DEAR EMILY WILKENS: CONSTANT CIRCLES

I have constant dark circles under my eyes. How can I get rid of them.

Patti G

Remember those all-important eight-hours or more of sleep every single night! Unfortunately, many cases of ever-present circles under the eyes are inherited.

You may, however, camouflage dark circles with one of the effective cover-up products available. It should be a shade or so lighter than that of your base, light-textured and soft so that it won't damage the delicate skin around the eyes. Apply gently, then blot. Smooth on regular base if necessary.

DANGER ZONE

I'm always picking at the skin on my lips. I'd be very grateful to learn of a cure, as I've heard this habit can be dangerous.

Catherine H.

If you keep lipstick, lip gloss or petroleum jelly on your lips during the day, and camphor ice on at night, you'll think twice about messing up either your fingers or lips.

CHEMISTRY COUNTS

I have a fairly good complexion and would like to play it up. No matter which brand of base I start with, however, it seems to grow several shades darker as the day wears on. Any hints?

Luella M.

Individual body chemistry can cause products to change color. Try using a completely colorless foundation first (just off-white). After blotting, apply your usual skin-tone shade. This process should keep your base from turning, and will make your complexion look clearer to boot.

SCOOP AWAY

I understand it's harmful to get makeup and cream underneath the nails. How can one get at the contents of jars, tubes and so forth, without using the fingers?

Mary M.

Tongue depressors (the kind doctors use to peer down your throat), available in drug stores, are marvelous for scooping up various creams. Or you may simply remove the cotton from the end of a swab stick and use the stick for digging into jars. When applying makeup (or cream) always use your fingertips, not your nails.

LONG HAIR

I'm letting my hair grow and hate the idea of cutting it even the least little bit, as it grows very slowly. Lately the ends of my hair, however, have become very frizzy. My friend says they're split and must be trimmed. Must they?

Joyce M.

I'm afraid they must. Trimming away the damaged ends will keep hair healthier (and make it behave better, too). A once-a-month tiny trim, even when letting hair grow long, is a good idea.

To prevent frizz, use end papers when you set your hair. Cream hairdressing, conditioning treatments and gentle brushing help keep split ends at a minimum.

DOUBLE LINE

My lashes are very sparse, and I don't like false lashes or wearing tons of mascara. Is there another way to make lashes look extra thick?

Ellen R.

Use a dark, soft, pencil-type eyeliner or soft brow pencil to edge color well into the roots of the lashes. Then with your favorite liquid, pencil or cake liner, make a second line across the lid from inner to outer corner, close to the base of the lashes and just above the first line. The double line, skillfully done, will give your lashes the extra-thick look you desire.

Emily Wilkens welcomes letters, but cannot undertake to answer each one. She will use questions in her column of general interest. Address your letters to Emily Wilkens, c/o this newspaper.

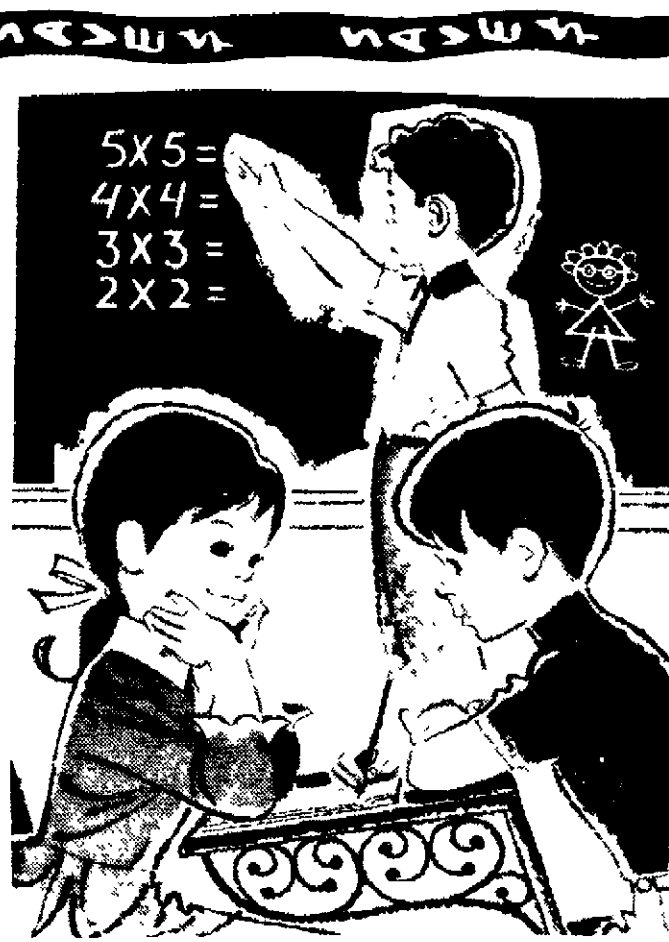

(quite inexpensive) and sprinkle it on our grass. I don't know where the red bugs go, but we don't scratch anymore. Sure works for us.

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE. When looking through a new magazine that has just arrived, I mark the numbers of the pages I want to cut out of it on the address label.

Then when it has made the rounds I can quickly glance at the label and know where to find the items I want to clip.

'Ladies Only' Luncheon Puff

You'll never do it! You just won't please a die-hard meat-and-potatoes man with this dainty luncheon idea. It's much too light, much too cool-and much too feminine. But you can serve these cloud-light Luncheon Puffs on one of those white-glove-and-straw-bonnet occasions that come with warm weather. —And, assuredly, you will please the women. Lusciously filled, golden brown and cutely capped, they're little pancake mix puffs whose tops are slit like jack-o-lanterns. Inside, softened cream cheese and mayonnaise bind and moisten a tempting combination of sliced, blanched almonds, green grapes and pineapple tidbits, and wonderful chopped, cooked chicken. Serve Luncheon Puffs with tasty and attractive relishes, coffee or iced tea and a sherbet dessert for almost any "ladies only" luncheon occasion. —Prepare them for the bridge or alumnae club or suggest them for the fund-raising fashion show menu. They're wonderful for the special occasion that asks you please NOT to "cook big" for hearty appetites. They are prettily appealing, gently spiced, . . . graciously feminine.

LUNCHEON PUFFS
Makes 8 servings
CREAM PUFFS:
1 cup water
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup pancake mix
4 eggs
FILLING:
2 cups chopped cooked chicken
One 13 1/2-oz. can pineapple tidbits
1 cup green grapes, halved and seeded
1/2 cup sliced blanched almonds
Two 3-oz. pkg. cream cheese, soft
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
3/4 teaspoon ginger
3/4 teaspoon salt

Heat oven to moderate (375 degrees F.). For cream puffs, bring water and butter to boil in saucepan. Add pancake mix; beat until mixture leaves sides of pan and forms ball. Continue to cook 2 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat. Add eggs, one at a time, beating vigorously after each addition. Drop by heaping teaspoons about 3 inches apart onto ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in preheated oven (375 degrees F.) about 45 minutes or until firm and brown. Slit tops; cool. For filling, drain pineapple, reserving 2 tablespoons liquid. Combine chicken, pineapple, grapes and almonds. Beat together cream cheese, mayonnaise, reserved pineapple

A Happy Couple

Perfect marriages aren't always made in heaven. Here is one your kitchen can create. Crab and ham combine deliciously in Crab Ham Rolls for a luncheon dish that's always a success.

Blend Alaska King crab with softened cream cheese, chopped celery and parsley and toasted almonds, ginger and salt until light and fluffy. Add to chicken mixture; stir until evenly coated. Just before serving, cut tops off cream puffs. Fill with salad and replace tops.

slivered almonds. Season and spread on thin slices of boiled ham. Chill a few hours and serve, as is, or slice the rolls crosswise to make bite-size pinwheels. Either frozen or canned Alaska King crab may be used in the Crab Ham Rolls since both are completely cooked in the packaging and processing. Simply defrost and drain the frozen crab or drain canned crab, then place it on a cutting board and slice fine with a sharp knife. Sprinkle lemon juice over the crab and it's all ready to blend into the cream cheese filling.

Garnish Crab Ham Rolls with wedges of hard-cooked egg and olives. Serve with a fruit gelatin mold and buttered thinly sliced rye bread for a tempting spring or summer luncheon.

CRAB HAM ROLLS
1 (7 1/2 oz.) can Alaska King crab or 1/2 lb. frozen Alaska King crab
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 (8 oz.) package cream cheese
1/4 cup finely chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1/4 cup chopped toasted almonds
Salt and pepper to taste
12 slices lean boiled ham
Drain canned crab or defrost and drain frozen crab. Place on chopping board and slice fine with sharp knife. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Have cream cheese at room temperature to soften. Blend with crab celery, parsley, almonds, salt and pepper. Spread on slices of boiled ham and roll, securing with picks if necessary. Chill well. Remove picks and serve on luncheon plate with garnish of hard-cooked egg and olives. Makes 6 servings. For appetizers, slice Crab Ham Rolls in 1/2 inch slices and serve with picks.

Household Hint

Meats cooked at high temperatures shrink from 15 to 20 per cent. Roast at lower temperatures and you'll have more meat to serve.

Ludlow Area News

By MRS. HILDUR WENSTRAN

The Brotherhood of Moriah Lutheran Church held their May meeting Thursday evening. The meeting was conducted by the vice president Homer Gilfert in the absence of the president C. H. Hanson.

After a brief business session the following program was heard: Two numbers by the church choir, "How Great Thou Art" and "Near to the Heart of God" with Mrs. Raymond Shaffer as accompanist. Readings were by Gustav Olson and Enoch Nelson and a vocal solo "My Task" by Leland Engman also accompanied by Mrs. Shaffer. Refreshments were served from a beautifully decorated table, with Spring Flowers for centerpiece. Host for the meeting was Mr. William Hanson.

Mrs. Frank Nelson and Mrs. Mabelle Nelson were guests at the mother and daughter banquet held in the Bethany Lutheran Church in Sheffield Thursday evening. Mrs. Mabelle Nelson gave part of the program by showing colored slides, taken on the trip to the Pacific Coast and Canada two years ago.

Mrs. John (Rose) Sevanick of Kane Rd., Sheffield, received word on Monday that her brother, Joseph Sotkovski, 49, and his son, Robert Charles, 26, were killed Sunday in an automobile accident near Midland, Texas, while changing a tire. Joseph was a former Ludlow boy and attended Ludlow School. He is survived by his wife, Ruth Westmoreland Sotkovski, another son Jack of Coleman, Tex.; his mother, Mrs. Harriet Sotkovski of Ludlow; two sisters, Mrs. Rose Sevanick of Kane Road, Sheffield, and Mrs. Mary Giambola of Long Island; a brother, Frank Sotkovski of Gowanda, N. Y., and six step-children. Both were buried in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sevanick and three children of Cassadaga, N. Y., spent Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mabelle Taylor and Miss Ruth Taylor.

Mrs. Marian Lubold of Warren, spent Sunday at the family home in Ludlow with her sister and brother, Myrtle and Emmet Johnson.

The American Legion Auxiliary mother and daughter banquet was held in the Legion Hall Tuesday evening and started with a tureen supper at 6:30.

Allegiance to the flag was led by the Girl Scouts after which 88 persons were seated at tables with beautiful arrangements of bowls of Jonquils, Narcissus, candles and tiny baskets for place cards made by the Girl Scouts holding small red, pink and yellow rosebuds.

Special guests were, Mrs. Doctor Cleland of Kane, Miss Zulal Balpinar from Turkey, Mrs. Roger Johnson from Lake Hiawatha, N. J., and Mrs. Doris Erickson from Kane.

A program was given by the piano pupils of Mrs. Enoch Nelson, Heidi Campbell, Cindy Nelson and Betty Lindquist. The girls gave several piano numbers and songs and were dressed in Japanese costumes.

Miss Zulal Balpinar, exchange student from Turkey, was guest speaker. She has been a guest of Drs. Charles and Betty Cleland in Kane during her stay here.

Miss Balpinar gave a very interesting talk about her home, the ways of the people and many humorous incidents both from home and since her stay in Kane.

Hostesses for the evening were: Mrs. Delores Russo, Mrs. Mickey Campbell, Mrs. Wilda McCleary and Mrs. Olga Kalin.

Mrs. Philip (June) Jones of Emporium is spending a week at the home of her mother, Mrs. Nannie Swanson, Thursday evening they attended the concert given by the A Cappella Choir in the high school auditorium in Warren.

Miss Ann Morelli, a granddaughter of Mrs. Swanson, was presented a dozen red roses for serving as accompanist for the concert.

"Pentecostal Power" was the sermon topic by the Rev. Carl F. Eliason Sunday morning at 9:30. The choir, directed by Mrs. Mabelle Nelson sang "If You Love Me", and for the offertory "O, Happy Home". The flowers on the altar were in loving memory of Mrs. Sally Cox, by the children, John and Mary.

Guests of Mrs. Agnes Forsgren for a few days have been Mrs. Alan Johnson and Mrs. Shirley Palmer and three boys from Cleveland, Ohio.

Edward J. Okruch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Okruch of Ludlow, has returned home following his honorable discharge from U. S. Air Force on April 27, 1967. He spent 18 months overseas duty in Guam, and will be home for the summer.

Mrs. Heige (Gunnild) Nelson of Chicago, Ill., is spending a couple of weeks at the home of her late parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Swanson of Warren visited with her last Wednesday.

Mrs. Fred Sapper of Erie has been a recent guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Swanson. She is the former Nettie Swanson of Ludlow.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Key of Warren spent Tuesday with Mrs. Mabelle Taylor and Miss Ruth Taylor.

Mrs. Lottie Gorman returned home Sunday, April 17th, after spending a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Eckman in Allegany, N. Y.

Mr. Herbert Anderson was admitted to Kane Community Hospital Sunday, May 7. Mrs. Stanley (Betty) Carlson was admitted there on Monday, May 8. Mr. Adolph Johnson was again admitted to Warren General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Knight were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles LaCaze in North Pine Grove on Sunday, May 7. Monday callers at their home were Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Weaver of Knox, Pa. Thursday they were guests at a birthday dinner given in honor of Mr. Knight, who on Tuesday, May 9th, celebrated his 80th birthday.

Mrs. Beulah Carlson and Howard Preston left for Middlesex, Pa., Sunday afternoon to visit a relative for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hanson and Mrs. Evelyn Anderson spent Sunday at the home of Mr. Harry Alexander in Meadville, Pa. Week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Larson have been Mr. and Mrs. Everett Larson of Corning, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Frear of Mount Rose, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Bergquist of Fairport, N. Y., were Mother's Day guests of Mrs. Anna Bergquist.

Peppers Rouse Sleepy Table

It can creep up on home-makers ever so quietly. Another day . . . another dollar . . . another lack-lustre dinner. It just happens. Still, there are lots of fresh ideas afoot and it's not so difficult to liven up a lazy table. One good way — fresh and fancy — is to serve Saucy Stuffed Peppers. You get — in just the right proportions —

BIT OF ZEST

Saucy stuffed peppers rouse sleepy tables with an exciting nip and a bit of zest.

the tasty zip of green peppers, the nip of Roquefort cheese and the zest of fresh onions. It's an exciting taste, but tempered by sliced fresh mushrooms, juicy ground beef and the wonderful flavor and binding qualities of rolled oats. Baked tender and sauce-drenched (or, if you're a little more conservative, sauce-drizzled) these stuffed peppers are all it takes to make tired tables bounce back. They're one of the wonderful bright ideas that shine through the lack-lustre problem. The lively ones . . . try 'em and see.

SAUCY STUFFED PEPPERS
Makes 6 servings
Peppers:
6 medium-sized green peppers
1 1/2 lb. ground beef
3/4 cup rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk

Sauce:
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
Dash white pepper
1 1/2 cups milk
1/2 cup crumbled Roquefort cheese
Heat oven to moderate (350 degrees F.). Cut green peppers in half lengthwise; remove seeds. Cook green peppers in enough boiling salted water to cover about 5 minutes; drain. Combine remaining ingredients; fill green peppers. Place in shallow baking pan; add small amount of water. Bake in preheated oven (350 degrees F.) about 40 minutes or until peppers are tender.

For sauce, melt butter. Stir in flour and pepper; cook until bubbly. Add milk gradually, stirring to make a smooth sauce. Cook until thickened, stirring frequently. Stir in cheese. Serve over baked stuffed peppers.

Sunday Supper

An interesting addition to panned cabbage.

Corned Beef Potatoes
Green Cabbage Plus Bread Tray
Fruit Compote Beverage

GREEN CABBAGE PLUS
1 quart tightly packed knife-shredded green cabbage
2/3 cup boiling water
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/8 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup sliced pitted ripe olives
Into a deep 10-inch skillet, turn the cabbage, water and butter. Cover and boil gently, stirring a few times, until cabbage is tender-crisp — 5 to 7 minutes. Uncover and continue boiling to evaporate liquid. Stir in salt, pepper and olives. Makes 4 servings.

A Pretty Sweet Change

With the slight of the first flow-ers comes the need for change. What some of us may want is a whole new way of feeling and looking. And as highly welcome as a new fragrance, hairstyle or make-up look, is something sweetly new for the taste buds. One that is a pretty cool new pie treat, and made with a quick cookie crumb crust, is Chocolate-Lemon Pie. Sound unusual? Well, it is. But just remember that the great French pastry chefs are famous for ingeniously combining chocolate and fruit, often chocolate and citrus. A delicious variation on this tasty theme, Chocolate-Lemon

Pie is easy to prepare with its crust of creme-filled chocolate cookies and luscious, lemon-flavored filling. Just before serving, center a floral decoration of sliced strawberries on top.

CHOCOLATE-LEMON PIE
28 Hydrox Cookies
6 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1/4 teaspoon ground mace
1 package lemon flavor gelatin, 3 ounces
1 cup boiling water
1 cup heavy cream, well whipped
fresh strawberries
Roll 16 cookies into very fine crumbs, between two pieces of waxed paper. (There should be about 1 1/4 cups.) Blend with melted butter. Spread mixture evenly over bottom and sides of 9-inch pie plate. Press remaining whole cookies around sides to make a scalloped edge. Refrigerate.

Mix mace with gelatin and add boiling water. Stir until gelatin has dissolved. Chill, stirring occasionally, until about consistency of unbeaten egg white. Fold in whipped cream, blending well. Chill again. Stir occasionally until almost set. (Chilling is quicker if bowl is placed in large bowl of ice cubes and water.) Pour mixture into crumb crust. Refrigerate until needed. When ready to serve, center a floral decoration of sliced strawberries on top. Yield: 6 servings.

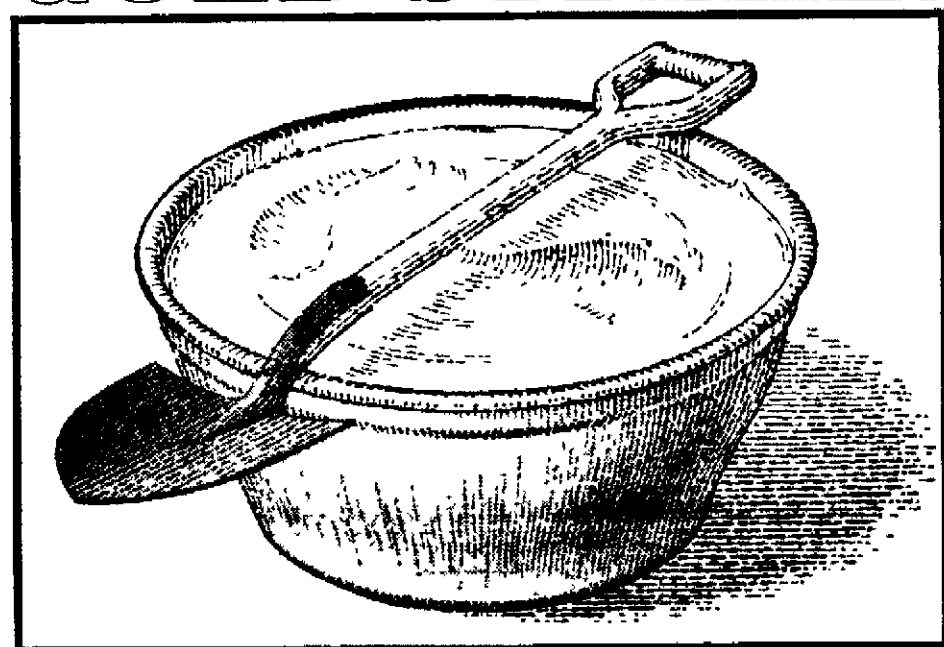

A NICE CHANGE

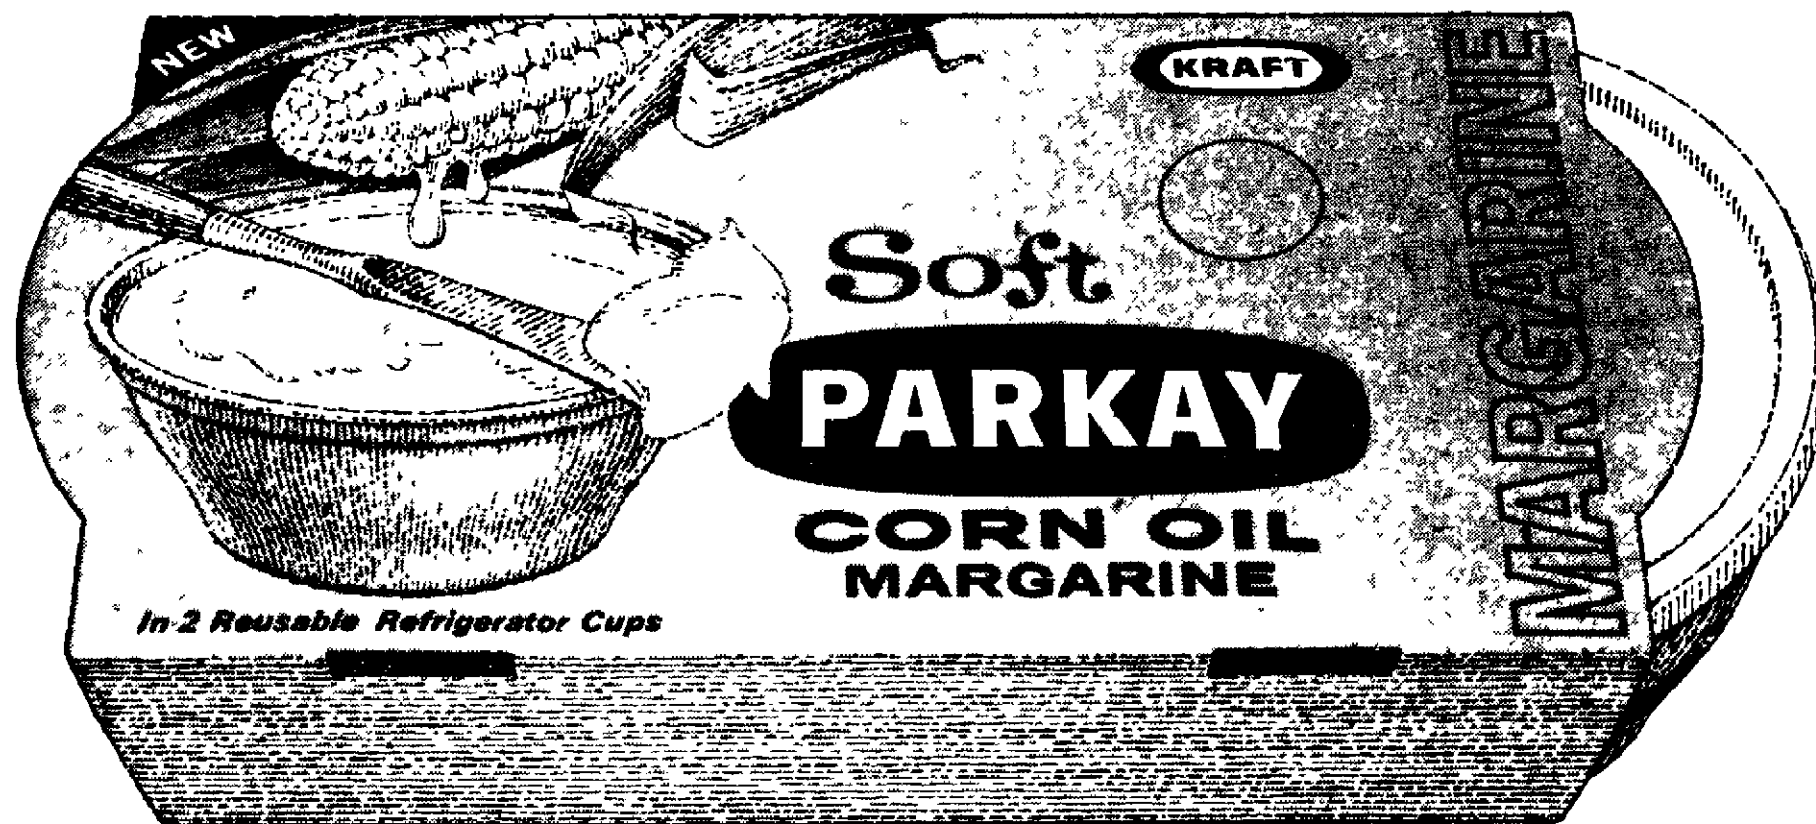

Spring brings desire for change and this Chocolate-Lemon Pie offers an unusual variation of flavors with its crust of chocolate sandwich cookies, lemon-flavored filling, and garnish of sliced strawberries.

WATER was first used for telling time about 250 B.C. and a water clock called a clepsydra, involving a relatively elaborate gear train, was described by a Roman engineer in 95 B.C.

SPRING BRINGS FLAVOR

Spring brings ferns, the first blossoms, and a fresh new flavor to foods. The early sprouts of asparagus will soon pop through the earth, and this tempting green vegetable makes the most marvelous soup.

Soup of the Vernal Equinox

"The winter is past, the rain is over and gone; the flowers appear on the earth; the time of the singing of birds has come, and the voice of the turtle is heard in our land." Many centuries ago this song was sung to Solomon.

The voice of the turtle brought happiness, pleasant weather, and the feast of the vernal equinox was observed. And even though our rains are not over, Spring brings us ferns, the first blossoms, and a fresh new flavor to foods that helps us forget winter's chill and storms.

The early sprouts of asparagus will soon pop through the earth, that tempting green vegetable which adds something special to so many dishes. It also makes the most marvelous soup, the canned condensed kind readily available at the supermarket, one that you can enjoy right now. You may already have a can of this springtime soup in your cupboard.

When Lewis Carroll wrote about "beautiful soup, so rich and green, waiting in a hot tureen," he could have been thinking of this spring green soup, the favorite of royal tables. Today's special version is the essence of spring and its gentle ways are surprisingly kind to your budget. It's made with condensed cream of asparagus soup, tuna, and spinach and may be garnished with hard-cooked eggs. It's ideal to serve with dainty sandwiches for occasions that come in the spring—showers, ladies committee lunches, garden club meetings, and birthdays.

SOUP OF THE VERNAL EQUINOX

2 cans (10½ ounces each) Campbell's condensed cream of asparagus soup
1 soup can milk
1 soup can water
1 can (7 ounces) tuna, drained and flaked
½ cup chopped cooked spinach
Dash pepper

Hard-cooked egg, sliced
Blend soup, milk, and water.
Add tuna, spinach, and pepper.
Heat; stir now and then. Garnish with egg slices. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

condensed vegetarian vegetable soup
1½ soup cans water
1 cup diced cooked chicken
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Dash pepper
Stuffing mix

CREAMY GREEN CELERY SOUP

¼ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10½ ounces) Campbell's

Cook onion in butter until tender. Blend in soups and water; add remaining ingredients except stuffing mix. Heat; stir now and then. Garnish with stuffing mix. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Potluck Supper

The next time you're invited to a potluck supper, volunteer to bring the vegetable course. Too often vegetables are neglected in party planning as everyone focuses their attention on the meat or a glamorous dessert. But, you can give the vegetable course the star billing it deserves and be the hit of the neighborhood when you bring Shoe Peg Sauté to the potluck. The shoe peg white corn in this recipe is a special variety, vacuum packed in a small amount of liquid to retain its crispness. Shoe peg, or country gentleman corn as it was once called, is a traditional favorite of the South. It is supposed to have originated in the southeastern United States, while other sweet corns are traced to the northeastern part of the country. The kernels of shoe peg corn are not as large as those of regular sweet corn and are of varying shapes and sizes. Because the kernels resemble a cobbler's shoe peg, they have been given this unusual name.

SHOE PEG SAUTE
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup green pepper strips
1/4 cup butter or margarine
Two 12-oz. cans shoe peg white corn, drained
Salt to taste
Pepper to taste
1 teaspoon beau monde seasoning
1 1/2 cups diced, fully cooked ham
Sauté onion and green pepper in butter until tender. Stir in remaining ingredients. Continue cooking 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Yield: 6 servings.
